LANCIA
"LAMBDA."

"The Lambda Lancia is distinctly unconventional in its construction, and it is even more unconventional in its road performances. It is a car all on the credit side and renders the Lambda Lancia one of the most attractive cars to handle on the road.

"Judging a car from its performance in the showrooms and judging it from its performance on the road are two entirely different things, so we invite you to the Lambda Lancia to gain actual experience of its running."

CHRISTMAS GIFT EXHIBITION

AFTER months of careful and elaborate preparation, SWITZERS Wonderful Christmas Gift Exhibition is now complete and will be opened on Monday next. It would be futile to attempt to describe it, or even to hint at the immense variety and appropriateness of the gifts included in this magnificent pageant—suffice it to say that nowhere, outside London itself, can Christmas Shoppers give such full expression to their desires as at SWITZERS. An early inspection will solve every gift problem.

A GUIDE FOR SHOPPERS

COLLECTIVE BUYING CONDEMNED.

Clonmel Mental Hospital Committee, at its last meeting, passed a resolution protesting against the Government scheme of collective buying. Members stated that some material supplied to the hospital was rotten.

It was also decided to insist on getting standard samples of materials supplied under Government contracts.

Many other County Tipperary boards have protested against collective buying as being unsatisfactory.

CORK STREET FEVER HOSPITAL AND HOUSE OF RECOVERY.

The Managing Committee of the Cork Street Fever Hospital and House of Recovery held their usual meeting in the Boardroom of the Hospital on Thursday, the 12th November, at 9 o'clock a.m., W. R. Wigham in the chair. There were also present:—Barclay C. Goodbody, J. W. Shackleton, A. Malcomson, E. Gayner Goodbody, E. A. Pim, and Major V. J. Kelly.

The present state of the House was reported as follows:—

		Beneavin.
No. of patients in Hospital on the 30th September, 1925	126	22	148
Admitted during the month of October, 1925	205	25	230
				378
Died	13	—	13
Discharged cured	167	30	197	210
Remaining in Hospital 31st October, 1925	151	17		168

The accounts for supplies to the Hospital during the month were examined and paid. The Medical Superintendent reported that the chief admissions were cases of diphtheria, some of them following an attack of measles. The treatment of these cases is very expensive, as serum alone cost nearly £100 per month, and the cost of nursing is also heavy. As we never refuse to admit a case, we trust to the public to supply the money we require.

We also admitted many cases of scarlatina, pneumonia, measles, and enteric, our daily average of beds occupied being over 161.

Toys would be very acceptable.

Messrs. E. A. Pim and A. Malcomson were appointed Visiting Governors for the current month.

After the transaction of the necessary business, the Board adjourned.

The Managing Committee thankfully acknowledge the following subscriptions and donations received during the past month:—

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

FOG.

LIVERPOOL CUP SURPRISE.

DONZELON'S RECOVERY.

SPARUS BEATEN TO THIRD PLACE.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Friday Night.

It is impossible to write much beyond a bald summary of the returns of the racing that took place at Aintree this afternoon, for the course was enshrouded in fog, a thicker and a blacker variety than that which rendered visibility so low yesterday. The fog had hung round all the morning, and, as there was a raw, penetrating cold in its train, the attendance was much smaller than that to which we are accustomed on Cup day. It should have been an interesting race, for the Liverpool Cup, for the field numbered no fewer than seventeen runners, and it was regarded as so open that 7 to 1 was offered against the field at the off, at which price Warden of the Marches was a slightly better favourite than Sparus, who was very much fancied, indeed, and was well expected to beat his stable companion, Cross Bow. This he did, but could not cope with the winner, Donzelon, who beat Amethystine by a neck, with Sparus, a length away, third, and The Monk fourth.

I must confess to not having given Donzelon a thought in connection with the race, even though he was fancied to some extent by Mr. Persse's stable. Sir Hedworth Meux's half-brother to that useful horse Chosroes had not won a race since he took the Hurst Park Great Two-Year-Old Stakes, exactly two years ago, and led many of us to believe that he was going to train on into a very useful colt, if not, indeed, into a classic winner. His second season was barren of result, and seven failures this year was his toll up to this afternoon. It was not surprising than that he was allowed to start at a long price, the exact odds being a subject of dispute between the two controversialists who return the prices for their respective newspapers.

Amethystine Heads Donzelon.

One could see the start of this race, which takes place near the stands, and Donzelon settled down in front of Palma Bay, with Clonespoe well up on the outside. When they came into view again Donzelon was just in front, and he retained his advantage long enough to win, while Sparus appeared to be making up ground fast at the finish. I believe that Amethystine did head Donzelon coming into the straight, and was then going extremely well, but that she did not stay on quite as well as the winner. She beat all the others comfortably, and it was a really good performance on the part of the daughter of Hainault.

The only other race of which anything but the last hundred yards of the finish was seen was that for the Abbeystead Hurdle, which the favourite, Spanish Thorn, won in a canter by four lengths from Mountain Blue. This Irish-bred youngster, who is by a rather neglected stallion, Don Juan, is evidently a very smart performer at his particular game, and is quite likely to go on winning for some time. He was very unlucky at Sandown, where he was hung up in the tapes at the start.

Frank Hartigan, who had a couple of winners yesterday, had another this afternoon, when Harpist won him the Stewards' Plate. This horse started favourite, and won easily by two lengths from Francis Jospeh, who, like Amethystine, is trained by Captain Boyd-Rochfort, all of whose horses have been running well without winning this week.

Favourites Do Well.

Favourites generally did well through the afternoon. Cymophane was a very strong order for the Witherslack Nursery, and Mrs. Arthur James's filly won in a canter from Sessay Wood. Grand Glacier was a good winner of the Downe Nursery by three-parts of a lengths from Mr. Clever. This Grand Parade colt, I imagine, is smarter than his previous form had shown, and he may make a nice colt next year. We should have been thrilled by an exciting finish for the last race, in which Check Taker beat Audax and Iolair by a short head and a head, but the light had gone so far then that all that could be seen was a spectral outline of some horses locked together passing the winning post.

It is to be hoped that the fog will have gone to-morrow, for there should be a very interesting race for the Grosvenor Cup, with Prompt, Purple Shade, Congo, and Sir Kenneth among others in the field. One can have much regard for the chance of Congo, and also for Purple Shade, who has run so well in the best company this season, but I think that PROMPT is good enough to give away the weight all round and to win. Ben Cruchan runs for the Valentine Steeplechase for amateur riders, but I do not care much for his chance at Liverpool. Old MASK ON seems to have come on a lot since he came to England, for he has not lost a race since, and he may give his owner, Captain Dennis, a winning ride here. The November Hurdle seems to be rather open. Beary wanted to ride Cavalier, who runs for Owen Anthony as well as Civic Guard, but R. Day, whose stable has first claim, would not allow him. LOW TIDE, I believe, will be the best of those trained by Coulthwaite, and may win. The Ormerod Plate may fall to ST. NAPOLEON.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

An interesting wind-up to the Liverpool Autumn Meeting is promised to-day, when another very attractive programme is down for decison, including events under both codes. Chief interest will centre in the Grosvenor Cup, for which Sparus, Amethystine, and Clonespoe, if none the worse for their race in the Autumn Cup, may be saddled. Lady Nunburnholme's filly certainly put up a great fight with Donzelon, and as the distance of to-day's race would suit her admirably she would have a great chance if started. Prompt, who is set to concede weight all round, is a very useful performer over a mile, and if she fails to be concerned with the finish I shall be very much surprised. Purple Shade has been rather a disappointing animal to his connections, having been tried over various distances without success, but perhaps his best performance this season was when he was beaten a short head in the Newbury Spring Cup over the distance of this race. Zaza won over this course in March, and has, I hear, been given a special preparation with a view to this race. I, however, prefer the claims of such as L'Aiglon, one of the best handicapped horses in the race, and Sir Kenneth, and I regard the former as the danger to Prompt. Taylor will not have a representative in the Autumn Foal Stakes, for which he had several entered, and their absence may pave the way for the success of Caissot, who is expected to make a winning début. Selections are as follow:—

November Hurdle—Belgian Boy.
Valentine Steeplechase—Mask On.

RETURNS OF STARTING PRICES.

Mr. W. J. Randall, the Secretary of the Turf Guardian Society, makes the following statement: Two meetings have been convened for Tuesday next, to deal with starting-price matters, to be held respectively at 4.30 and 5.30 p.m., at the Hotel Cecil, London. The first meeting is concerned with the difficulties arising out of the constantly varying prices returned by the "Sporting Life and Sportsman" and the "Sporting Chronicle." Some time ago the Bookmakers' and Backers' Racecourse Protection Association called a conference of representative bodies to consider this question, and, arising out of this conference, a small permanent committee was appointed. It consists of Mr. Fred Parker, the Chairman of the Victoria Club; Mr. Albert Marks, the Chairman of the B.B.P.A.; Mr. J. T. Huckin, the Chairman of the National Sporting League; and Mr. W. J. Randall, the Secretary of the Turf Guardian Society. On Tuesday this Committee is privately meeting the responsible representatives of the two sporting dailies, to discuss with them the difficulties of the present conditions, and to attempt with them to find a remedy.

The second meeting, at 5.30, has been called to deal with various points arising out of the lending and borrowing of names for the purpose of making substantial bets with starting-price offices on horses that are not backed at all in the betting Rings at the races. This is a private meeting of the General Committee of the Turf Guardian Society and some other members of the Society who are directly concerned in the matter at the moment.

HILLSIDE HARRIERS.—Meet Crumlin Cross-roads to-day, 2 o'clock.

THE MEATH HOUNDS.

Scent was very poor at Slane Castle on Thursday last, and remained so all day. Though plenty of foxes were found, there is not much to write about. A fox found in "The Drive" gave a right-handed ring via the back of the Parson's House, and was killed near the starting point. Subsequently we ran back from Little Wood into Slane. There was quite a smart spurt from Leslie's to round in Newrath, which redeemed the day, as a fox found in Hussey's, with darkness approaching, was headed so often he had to be left.

Another sharp frost followed on Thursday night, which made it look doubtful if hunting would be possible yesterday at Kilmessan. However, a goodly few arrived at the meet to time, and were rewarded for their energy by a good gallop from Curtistown, the first draw. The objective had left the cover, before we got there, but lay in the ditch beside it. When put up, the bitches got away on good terms, and "chirped" merrily along for 18 minutes, to ground by the Scurlockstown road, just short of Rock Lodge, a distance of three miles. Grief was rather prevalent owing to the hold the frost had taken in places. Kilcarty was blank, but Major Fox's covert at Galtrim held a leash. The selected one was hunted almost straight to "The Ginnets" before scent dwindle out. Trotter's Gorse was the final draw, and held, but the earth stopping did not seem sufficiently strong, and at least one fox got through it. As the day progressed the field was considerably augmented, but amongst the early arrivals at the meet was Master Shirley, on his grey pony, receiving education of the right sort from his father, the Rev. Mr. Shirley, who was on foot. A coil of wire lying out in a field very nearly caused an ugly accident to General Hammond, whose hunter got caught in it and was pulled down, but fortunatel both escaped injury.

COURSING.

THE IRISH CUP.

VICTORY OF GUIDING HAND.

EXCITING TRIALS.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Each of the Provinces was represented in the semi-final stage of the Irish Cup yesterday at Clounanna. Munster and Connaught greyhounds fought out the deciding course, and victory, for the first time in the history of the Irish Blue Riband, went to the West. Guiding Hand won the Cup in the nomination of Mr. Mulligan, the Ballina solicitor. And he won it on his merits.

Right to the close of what was one of the most successful meetings held under the auspices of the County Limerick Club interest in the event was sustained to a very high pitch—so much so, indeed, that the attendance must have been one of the biggest which has assembled at Clounanna on the third day of the Cup meeting for many a year.

The semi-finals were, perhaps, disappointing in a sense; for there was a difference of opinion as to whether Odd Boy got the turn from Company Job. Indeed, many thought that the first points were scored by the latter on the inside; but such was not the case, the initial score going to the Ballincollig dog, who struggled up on the outside for the all-important turn. And it was the turn which, in the end, decided the issue; for after that there was nothing in the points one way or the other, the course being one of the best contested of the meeting. As a matter of fact, there was no doubt as to the merit of the winner's performance.

Company Job made a gallant attempt to dispel the notion that he had not pace to lead Odd Boy in this trial, and proved that in the matter of speed there is very little between the pair. But, on the other hand, Odd Boy showed that he could handle the hare just as cleverly as his opponent by the manner in which he rattled up the last three scores before killing. It was, however, a pity that a better hare was not sent out for this course. She did not go more than half-way up the ground; but, be that as it may, the winner was the better greyhound as the course was run.

Then Guiding Hand administered a sharp set-back to the much-fancied Scotch Reel. In this course we saw the Ballina greyhound at his best; he has not given such a convincing display since his first couple of courses as a puppy.

It was an intensely interesting deciding course. There were about two lengths in favour of Guiding Hand for the turn, but when it came to coursing he put plenty of fire into it. Still, there was always the chance that the hare would stand up for a long trial, but the killing powers of Guiding Hand did not allow her to go very far up. When he was thrown out by a heavy cannon after taking the second turn, Odd Boy had a rare chance, but just as he was in a position to make matters most interesting he stumbled, and then it was all over, for as they cleared the drain Odd Boy made a determined attempt to kill, missed his shot, and the brindled cut in to effect the death and get the flag.

It was a highly meritorious performance on the part of the winner and the loser. The displays of Guiding Hand came as a revelation to those who had seen his full brother, Grappling Iron, go up in front of him at the recent Roscommon meeting and beat him, but here he never made the semblance of a mistake, and won the Cup decisively on his merits. And this Cup was one of the hardest battles which have been waged at Clounanna.

While everyone at the meeting would have liked to have seen Odd Boy raise the flag in the deciding course, for the reason that he is owned by one of the best coursers in the country in Mr. O'Brien, of Ballinacollig, the success of Mr. Mulligan was extremely popular, for he is one of the young school of Irish coursers, and is doing a great deal of good for the sport in the West.

Since Mr. O'Brien took up coursing many years ago he has figured in no fewer than seven sixty-four dog stakes—the Waterloo Cup with Kilcrea, the Tipperary Cup and the Irish Cup with the same dog, three finals of the Irish Cup with Chip at Wexford and Blarney Castle and Mysterious at Clounanna, and yesterday with Guiding Hand.

The Purse was divided between Knotty Problem and Masked Battery, each of which ran their courses extremely well. Had they gone to slips for the deciding course it must have been a very interesting struggle, but they were hard run, and the right decision was come to. The Plate, which was disappointing in the number of withdrawals, was won by Ocean Current, but here again there was a difference of opinion. The judge, however, was in a position to decide whether Geoffrey P. had done enough to get the flag.

The arrangements were complete in every detail, and the beautiful weather which favoured the sport to the end was largely responsible for the remarkable success of the meeting.

Judge—Mr. M. F. Davin. Slipper—W. O'Donoghue.

The Purse.

THIRD ROUND.

Knotty Problem led Double K two lengths. A fine working trial followed in which Double K was the keener on the scut, but Knotty Problem, when he nailed the hare was a clear winner. Spalding Bishop went up three lengths from Lady Essex, and proved too fast for the bitch in a well contested trial, the loser finishing with the kill. Masked Battery shifted the hare a length and a half clear of Broken Bridge, and won comfortably. Gallowglass ran a bye, Sparkle being drawn.

FOURTH ROUND.

Knotty Problem forged up nearly three lengths from Spalding Bishop, and after having all the best of the beginning, more than held his own in the work that followed to the spinney. Gallowglass led Masked Battery three lengths, but after a good beginning the effort died away, and Masked Battery well outpointed him to the spinney. The stakes were then divided.

The Cup.

Fifth Round.

In a great struggle for the opening points, Odd Boy scored them on the outside by half a length and came nicely round for the second, but he skidded heavily on to his shoulders, and Company Job nicked in for two. He, however, also fell when in strong possession, and Odd Boy resumed for the last three and the kill.

Guiding Hand stretched out three lengths from Scotch Reel, and scored a sequence of three good points, whereupon Scotch Reel cut in for two and the kill.

Deciding Course.

It was a perfect slip, but when Donoghue dropped his dogs Guiding Hand at once began to show the better pace. When he reached the hare he was a good two lengths clear, and, as pussy broke, Guiding Hand went round with her for the second score. From a heavy cannon Odd Boy came off best, but he had registered only one point when he was thrown out by a stumble. The brindled then took possession, and, after an exchange, Odd Boy made a drive to kill over the drain, missed the shot, and put the hare to Guiding Hand for the kill—a highly meritorious win for the brindled.

LONG ODDS BETTING BEFORE COURSING.
2 to 1 agst. Odd Boy.
9 to 4 agst. Scotch Reel.
9 to 4 agst. Guiding Hand.
6 to 1 agst. Company Job.

RUGBY.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

Both Dublin University and Wanderers travel to Belfast to-day, and of the four senior matches to be played in Dublin there is none of outstanding interest. The probability is that the game at Terenure between Bective Rangers and University College will be the most interesting. Lansdowne, who played such a fine game against Trinity recently, are fielding a strong team against Palmerston at Lansdowne road and, on form, should have no difficulty in winning. Old Wesley have a stiff proposition before them in meeting Monkstown at Donnybrook, and Clontarf also will be set a big task at Castle avenue, where they meet Blackrock College. All matches start at 3 o'clock.

Sandford Park School II. v. Mountjoy II.—This match resulted in a win for the former by 1 goal 2 tries (11 points) to 3 tries (9 points). For the winners Smith scored 2 tries and Ivo 1 try, Smith converted one. For the losers, Spenser scored twice and Anderson once.

Co. Meath v. College of Surgeons.—This match, at Terenure, produced a fast, open game, which resulted in favour of the County by 10 points to nil. The visitors attacked from the start, Tuite and Anderson being only held up on the line. Meath were on the offensive for practically the whole of the first half, but failed to score. After the interval the County forwards dribbled over the line for Tevlin to score, Hanly's kick hitting the upright and rebounding. Surgeons had a spell of attack, but Meath cleared. The ball going loose at the College '25, Hanly droped a great goal, putting Meath seven points ahead. Shortly afterwards McNally, gathering a pass, beat several opponents to send Armstrong over for a good try, which the scorer failed to convert.

GOLF.

BIG PROFESSIONAL MATCH.

MITCHELL BEATS COMPSTON BY 9 AND 8.

Abe Mitchell has re-asserted himself. Regarded as Britain's premier match player, it is to his credit that he should have attained this position, despite the fact that he has never won an Open Championship, and that he has also been described as the most disappointing of players. As to the match, which was decided yesterday on the Wentworth Course, it may be said that Mitchell not only rehabilitated himself, but also distinguished himself. Compston may console himself with the fact that his opponent could have beaten anybody else. He played great golf, and the few mistakes which he made merely indicated that he was human, and not an automaton. Compston has suffered a real check in his meteoric career. Having twice beaten Mitchell this year, he had a right to challenge him for pre-eminence, but it is not unfair to him to say he was absolutely and undeniably outclassed.

THE FIRST ROUND.

The resumed match opened steadily with three halves in 5, 5, 4. Then Mitchell, who can be so great a golfer as to appear almost a wizard, played in that fashion which has earned for him his reputation. He won four holes running in wonderful figures. At the fourth he got a 3 against Compston's 5. At the next—the first of four short holes, which were magnificently played by Mitchell—he got a 2. Another 3, and then at a hole which measures 534 yards he got a perfect and winning 5. Not all the confidence of Compston could withstand such playing, and before he knew where he was the Manchester man was 8 down. Mitchell turned for home with that great lead, having gone out in 34.

At the eleventh he holed a four yards putt for 9 up. Compston had to struggle for his half in 3 at the short twelfth, but he won the thirteenth. Much had been said of Compston's superstition. It was the thirteenth of the month and a Friday, significant facts for a superstitious man, and at the thirteenth he won his first hole. Not only this, but he won the fourteenth as well. The spectators, of whom there were about six hundred, began to recall the great Gleneagles recovery, when Compston won, after being in an apparently hopeless position. When Compston won the fifteenth and sixteenth—three out of four holes—it began to get interesting. But the recovery went astray at the short seventeenth, when Compston was bunkered, and Mitchell, getting his 3 easily, became 7 up again. Compston looked like losing the eighteenth as well, but played a fine shot out of a bunker to snatch a half. Thus Mitchell went to lunch with seven holes in his pocket.

SECOND ROUND.

Compston opened well by winning the first hole in 5, Mitchell having been bunkered, but the latter got his seven holes' lead at the second, which he won in 3 to 4. Two halves followed, and then Mitchell was laid the stymie of the match. He successfully lofted it and won the hole for 8 up. At the seventh—529 yards—Mitchell got a perfect 4 and he became 9 up. At the eighth he got a 3, and it is worthy of note that in doing so he completed a day of magnificently played short holes. This made him dormie 10, and it merely became a matter of margin. He pulled his drive to the ninth, and was bunkered from his second, so that Compston kept the match alive, but it was all over at the tenth. Here both players were on in 2 and were within a foot of the pin in 3. Compston walked over and shook hands in token of surrender, technically conceding the hole and match thereby. He was actually stone dead, and it will be recorded in the history of golf that Abe Mitchell (unattached) beat Archie Compston (North Manchester) 9 up and 8 to play.

The figures for yesterday's play were:—Mitchell—First round:—

BARNSLEY'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

Owing to financial difficulties, the directors of the Barnsley Club have circularised the Football League clubs that they are prepared to accept offers for any of their players. The club last season lost £3,500, and this season support has been poor. Alderman Rose, the Chairman of the club, says that the action of the directors is lamentable, but they have no alternative.

GAELIC GAMES.

DUBLIN AND WEXFORD FOOTBALLERS TO MEET AGAIN.

(By PAT'O.)

One of the most debated games of the 1925 Championship was the match between Wexford and Dublin, at Kilkenny, when the formidable O'Tooles' fifteen were narrowly beaten by Wexford, after an hour's football, brimful of thrills. So close and engrossing was the play's progress that spectators were in serious danger of getting out of control. Over vigorous at times, the football was of a good standard, and Dublin were defeated in Leinster for the first time in six years. Since then, enthusiasts from either county have been anxious to see the teams meet again. They will have the opportunity to-morrow at Croke Park, where a very attractive programme is arranged.

The Kickham captain, W. O'Donovan, has been one of the most prominent performers for Dublin in inter-county football of recent years. Last year he had an illness shortly after playing one of his best matches, and the trouble almost proved fatal. Painstaking medical skill and his fine constitution pulled him through. In appreciation of his long services and to commemorate his recovery, his football friends have arranged to-morrow's challenge tournament. O'Tooles are fielding the fine fifteen which has won the Leinster League (Division I.), and are anxious to reverse the recent result against Wexford. The Slaney men travel to Dublin to-day, and are accepting the game as a serious test of strength, for they do not consider they were lucky last time. Mr. James Byrne has charge of the team.

Civic Guard hurlers are still winning at all venues. They have pulled a fast, clever team together, and seem to improve at each outing. In anticipation of Dublin's (Guards) early meeting with Kilkenny in the National League, to-morrow's Senior game against Kickhams is much discussed in Gaelic circles. Kickhams juniors had a win of great merit against Kilkenny at St. James's Park last Sunday, and more than a few of their second string are eligible for promotion. I learn that some of these will take the field against Guards to-morrow, and, if so, we shall see a rousing game. Finlay and Kelly will be back in their old places and a few new men of high reputation are mentioned on Kickhams side. Close hurling students expect a fast hour's hurling. When these teams met in the 1925 Championship we saw the most closely contested game of the season, and rivalry is keen. I am anxious to see the Civic Guards fully extended, and I think Kickhams will succeed in doing so to-morrow.

The Cup, presented by P. McGrath (Secretary, Munster Council), to Senior football counties in Munster, will be a big attraction at Macroom to-morrow, where Kerry (All-Ireland champions) meet Cork. The Kingdom men travel by road via Millstreet, and, as the bulk of the Cork team is drawn from Macroom and Nils, who fought out the Cork final, a big attendance is certain.

Leinster Football League ties are scheduled for Longford and Naas. Longford footballers are expected to win at home, and, in doing so, they win group two of the Leinster League. With Dublin and Leix winners of groups one and three, we shall have some good competition.

Fixtures at Croke Park — Wexford v. Dublin (Senior Football challenge match), 3 p.m.; Civic Guards v. Kickhams (Senior Hurling League), 1.30 p.m.

LEINSTER LEAGUES RESTART.

After a blank day last week the Leinster Leagues start again this afternoon, and after four days' frost the grounds should roll out in good order. In the senior division the clubs have reached the stage of return matches, and it will be interesting to note the improvement since the season opened. Dublin University travel to Foxrock, where they are likely to find the re-organised Rovers side a stiff proposition. Pembroke Wanderers showed good form against the League leaders last month and, playing at home, should repeat the performance. Monkstown form has been in and out this season, and their win against Grammar School was only gained by a single goal, so that to-day's meeting at Tivoli terrace should produce a close game.

All matches are timed to start at 3 o'clock, unless specially arranged.

BILLIARDS.

SMITH v. DAVIS.

Smith again got in front of Davis (receives 6,000) in their 18,000 match at Newcastle-on-Tyne yesterday afternoon, and at the close of the session he had a lead of just over 400. In the course of the play Davis had four double baulks, and he had seven fruitless essays, his best break being 54. At the resumption of play the former champion put up 115, and after that he had other breaks of 428, 116 and 306 (unfinished). Interval scores:—Smith (in play), 15,752; Davis (rec. 6,000), 15,345.

Smith had the best of moderate billiards in the evening. After he had taken his unfinished break to 359, his other runs were 107, 114, 79, 219, and 37 (unfinished), while Davis made 51, 55, 200, 190, and 53.

Closing scores:—Smith (in play), 16,501; Davis (rec. 6,000), 16,043.

NEWMAN v. STEVENSON.

Newman took the lead for the first time in his 18,000 match with Stevenson at Thurston's Hall, London, yesterday afternoon, and at the interval held an advantage of 90 points. The chief breaks of the session were 193, 165, 71, 132, 108, 53, 49 (unfinished) by Newman, and 114, and 46 by Stevenson. Interval scores:—Newman (in play), 15,750; Stevenson (rec. 4,000), 15,660.

Newman increased his lead to 616 at night, totalling 752, as against Stevenson's 226. The champion made breaks of 77, 429, 141, and 102. Stevenson failed to register a three-figure break, his best being 62 and 82.

Closing scores:—Newman (in play), 16,502; Stevenson (rec. 4,000), 15,886.

FRUIT TREES.

One plants fruit trees to last for many years. Valuable wall space or choice positions in the open garden are given to them. Money and time are spent on pruning and caring them year by year. What a disappointment if they prove worthless in the end!

It should be unnecessary to emphasise the importance of buying fruit trees from the best source there is, and yet every year, until experience proves the error, trees which ought to go to the rubbish heap are not infrequently bought and planted. Leading Irish authorities and experts will tell you (ask them) that the stock of fruit trees at Killiney Nurseries is far the best and largest in this country. Scientific production on modern lines has also secured for the Nurseries there an extensive export trade, and the lorry loads of straw-packed trees en route for the steamers to England and Scotland are a familiar sight in Dublin streets during the Winter planting season. Catalogues and prices can be had free on application.

THE POPPY DAY APPEAL.

IRISH PEOPLE'S STRIKING RESPONSE.

NAVAN'S 2,000 POPPIES.

The success of Earl Haig's appeal to the people of these islands for funds in aid of the men crippled and disabled in the Great War is beyond question. Everywhere the poppy sales figures are greater than those of last year, and cheering reports are still arriving from all over the country. In Navan 2,000 poppies were sold, and in a thinly populated district near the same town one lady collected almost £20 for the Fund. Castleblayney people bought £23 worth of poppies. The story is the same all over the country.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH SERVICE.

Remembrance Day was observed in St. George's Church, Dublin, by a solemn and impressive morning Service. The evening Service, at which 1,800 people were present, was conducted by the Rev. Canon Fergus Greer, M.A., Incumbent, and the other clergy of the parish took part in the Service.

Taking as his text "Thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord led thee to humble thee and to prove thee," the Rev. R. C. Madden, M.A., said that thanksgiving was the note they struck on Armistice Day, and that day, the seventh anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, was the day belonging to their glorious and heroic dead—they who did their duty unflinchingly, and whose memory would be ever cherished in the land they saved. "When we look back," the preacher said, "we wonder why God allowed so much suffering, death and misery. The text gives the answer—'to humble and prove thee.'" He exhorted them to work for the upholding of truth and right, and to pray for peace and strength to carry out the great lesson the war had taught them. Concluding, Mr Madden said that the future Services of remembrance and commemoration of the great sacrifices made by their brother-comrades would bear neither trace nor significance of a political nature, and it could never be said of them, as the result of any word or action of theirs, that the motive that animated them in holding commemorations was other than one of love and admiration for the dead, who gave their lives for freedom. "By holding these commemorations you will perpetuate that glorious reconciliation between North and South—Roman Catholic and Protestant, Nationalist and Unionist—and you will assist in maintaining that good-will and loyal cooperation of your fellow-countrymen which is so essential to the future happiness of our country."

BRAY CEREMONIES.

On Sunday next the ex-Service men of Bray and district will hold a morning church parade to celebrate the signing of the Armistice. In the afternoon they will parade at Bray Town Hall and march to the town memorial in Quinsborough road. Viscount Powerscourt and Lord Ardee will be present at the ceremony. In addition to the Bray, Shankill, Oldcourt, and Newtownmountkennedy branches of the British Legion of ex-Service Men, the St. John Ambulance band, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides' Associations will attend. Wreaths will be laid at the foot of the cross and an address to the men will be made.

CO. MEATH CELEBRATIONS.

The armistice celebrations in Co. Meath were marked by a successful ball in the Navan Show Ground pavilion in aid of the funds of the British Legion. About 200 people attended. The sale of Flanders poppies was greater than last year, over 2,000 being sold in Navan; while in a sparsely populated district adjacent to the town one lady—Mrs. Pollock, of Mountainstown—realised almost £20. A special Remembrance Day Service, held in St. Mary's, at which the Rev. S. Hipwell, C.F., Rector of Kilskyre, officiated, was largely attended. Mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Catholic Church at the same time.

The British Legion dance was attended by the Marchioness Conyngham, General Hammond, Major Parr, Major and Mrs. Sharpe, Mr. and Miss Cameron, Mr. A. Lowry and party, Mr. and Mrs. Lentaigne, Captain and Mrs. Hehir, Captain T. C. and Mrs. Crinion, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tiernan, Rev. G. R. L. and Mrs. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs Pollock, Mrs. Finnegan (Moatlands), and Mr. and Miss Gorman.

POPPY DAY AT CASTLEBLAYNEY.

A poppy sale, organised by the Castleblayney Branch of the British Legion of Ex-Service Men, assisted by a number of ladies and gentlemen, residents of the town, was a great success. £23 was realised, a substantial sum when it is considered that it was Castleblayney's first Poppy Day.

DERRY'S RECORD.

Derry made a great success of Poppy Day, and, as a result of the efforts of the organisers, Earl Haig's Fund benefited by £337, an increase on last year.

KILDARE MEMORIAL MASS.

At the Kildare Parish Church to-morrow a memorial Mass will be celebrated. The Brownstown Branch of the British Legion will form up at Kildare Railway Station at 10 a.m. and march in column of fours to the church, accompanied by the Kildare pipers' band.

A wreath was placed on the wall over the place where Lieutenant Wogan Browne was murdered in the Main street. The wreath, bearing the inscription: "Lest We Forget," was placed there by some friends of the deceased officer.

CAVAN'S TRIBUTE.

Armistice Day was celebrated in Cavan by Services in the Catholic and Protestant churches, which were attended by a large number of ex-Service men and their relatives. Flanders poppies were largely worn.

POPPY SALES AT LETTERKENNY.

Poppy Day sellers in Letterkenny realised £23 17s. The flower was generally worn in the town.

PORTADOWN WAR MEMORIAL.

Portadown War Memorial was unveiled in the presence of a great crowd. A guard of honour was provided by detachments of the Royal Ulster Rifles and the Royal Irish Fusiliers. The band of the Seaforths led the music, which was sung by a large choir.

14,000 SCATTERED ULSTER GRAVES.

The hymn "For all the Saints who from their labours rest" having been impressively sung, the unveiling of the memorial was proceeded with by Sir Travers Clarke (former Quartermaster-General to the Forces, who was long associated with the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers). He said that the people of Portadown were faithful in every phase of the Great War to the glorious traditions of Ulster, and had taken their full part in the splendid record of service of that outpost of the Empire. Over two Continents were scattered the graves of 14,000 Ulstermen who gave their lives so that the Empire might continue its work for mankind.

THE MONUMENT.

The memorial consists of an imposing statue surmounted by a bronze group twelve feet over all, mounted on a high pedestal of Irish granite, on each side of which are bronze panels containing the names of the fallen.

The Rev. R. W. Hamilton (former Moderator of Assembly) read the lesson, which was followed by prayer by the Rev. E. B. Cullen, M.A., President of the Methodist Church in Ireland.

Mr. William J. Johnston, J.P., chairman of the Portadown Urban District Council, said: "We will at all times maintain and keep it in proper order and repair."

Sir James Craig said that the memorial was a credit to the town, and it would stand alongside that of his dear old friend, Colonel Saunderson, for many years to come—a lesson to young Ulster of sacrifice in the battlefield on the one hand, and on the other hand an example of a great man, who led the people of Ulster in more peaceful ways. (Applause.)

The National Anthem having been sung, over one hundred wreaths were placed on the memorial. They were from the ex-Service men of Portadown, the Urban District Council, St. Mark's Parish Church, St. Patrick's Parish Church, Portadown Methodist Church, the local Orangemen, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Royal Ulster Constabulary, B Specials, the Railwaymen, representatives of Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, Public Elementary Schools' staffs, the Post Office staff, staffs of public works, and a great number of private wreaths from relatives and friends of the fallen.

SKIBBEREEN CEREMONY.

Armistice day was observed in Skibbereen by the attendance of ex-Service men at the Roman Catholic and Protestant Churches. The two minutes' silence was observed at the national monument.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

ROSCREA BANK ROBBERY.

ONE MAN CONVICTED: 7 YEARS' PENALTY.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'SHAUGHNESSY.)

In the case of the three young men, John McCarthy, Michael O'Brien, and James Peters, all of Thurles, and ex-members of the National Army, who were charged with conspiracy to rob, and with robbing the Roscrea branch of the Bank of Ireland of £10,617 10s. 1d. on the 24th March last, the jury returned a verdict of "guilty" against O'Brien, and "not guilty" in the case of the other two prisoners. O'Brien was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

The hearing of the evidence in support of the alibi defence concluded at 3 o'clock. The jury retired at 7.30, and returned with its verdict at 8.40.

In the morning several witnesses were examined in support of the defence put forward by Michael O'Brien, whose case was that he was working miles away from Roscrea on the day of the robbery.

John McCarthy's story was borne out by a number of witnesses. He stated that on the 24th March his activities included doing some typewriting, "backing" a horse, etc. The revolver and bombs which were found in his house were souvenirs. The bombs were quite harmless. He had neither hand, act nor part in the robbery.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carrigan, he said that he had done no work since he left the Army. The parabellum revolver found in his house was effective. He heard it sworn that a similar type of weapon was carried by one of the bank raiders.

FRAUDULENT CONVERSION.

Patrick Bowles, convicted of the fraudulent conversion of £67 10s., part proceeds of the sale of a farm, was ordered to repay the money by instalments within six months, or suffer imprisonment for twelve months. Bowles gave the undertaking required, and was discharged.

RENT COLLECTOR SENTENCED.

Timothy Mulcahy, who pleaded guilty to the fraudulent conversion of over £600, received by him as collector of cottage rents for the Newcastle (Co. Limerick) Rural District Council, was sentenced to three years' penal servitude.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

MORNING RAIDS IN THE CITY.

CHARGES UNDER FIREARMS AND TREASON ACTS.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

As a sequel to a number of police raids in the city yesterday morning a young man named Patrick Rigney was brought up on a charge of being unlawfully in possession of a revolver, and was remanded until Monday next on an independent bail of £25.

Detective Sergeant Dawson stated that between 7 and 8 o'clock that morning he and a number of other officers, in the course of a raiding expedition, visited the house 11 Newport street, where they found the prisoner and his brother in bed. In a chest of drawers the witness found a repeating parabellum revolver and seven rounds of ammunition. When questioned about the matter, the accused man said that he had had the revolver since 1917, and when charged with the offence he said, "It is all right."

The accused man said that the evidence was true, and asked the Justice to deal with the case that day.

Sergeant Dawson—A series of raids took place this morning, and I have been requested to apply for a remand.

AN ILLEGAL ORGANISATION.

James Donnelly (42), commission agent, Ring street, Inchicore, was remanded until Thursday next on a charge of having unlawfully taken part and assisted in the organisation and maintenance of an association purporting to be a military force, but not established or maintained by law, contrary to the provisions of Section 6 of the Treasonable Offences Act, 1925.

Evidence was given by Detective Sergeant M. O'Neill that between 7 and 8 o'clock that morning he found a number of military books, maps and other documents referring to other illegal operations in the defendant's house. When asked to account for the documents, Donnelly said: "I will account for some of them all right, but as far as the others are concerned, I am interested in the drawing of maps."

A similar order was made in the case of John Russell, 66 North Strand road, also charged under the Treason Act.

SHOP HOURS ACT.

TRADERS WHO ARE HIT BY EARLY SATURDAY CLOSING.

Fines ranging from £1 to £3 were imposed on a number of drapers carrying on business in Talbot street for having illegally kept open their premises after 7.30 o'clock on Saturday nights during October last.

The defence in every case was that the drapers committed the offence because other traders did not close. If all closed in accordance with the Act they would undertake to do likewise.

One of the defendants said that on one week when he closed on Saturday at 7.30 p.m. his takings for that week were down by a third. If things were to continue as they were he would have to dismiss his assistants, because at present he had found that the best part of their trade was done after 7 o'clock on Saturday nights.

INSURANCE CLERK SENT FOR TRIAL.

Michael B. Quillinan (32), formerly a clerk in the employment of the Irish National Insurance Company, Great Brunswick street, was returned for trial to the Circuit Court on the charge of having fraudulently converted to his own use two sums of £133 8s. 10d. and £85 between the months of May and August of this year.

A witness from the company gave evidence that the £133 was handed to the accused man to lodge in the bank. Quillinan absconded with the money. The £85 was made up of cheques for various amounts.

Bail in £100 was allowed.

WIFE AND CHILD NEGLECT.

A sentence of six months' hard labour, not to be imposed if he paid 30s. a week to his wife, was passed on Matthew Callanan, a moulder, of Queen street, who was summoned by the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children with neglecting his wife and three children.

From the evidence it appeared that the defendant left his wife six years ago. He supported her for the first three years, but afterwards sent her money only occasionally. During the past six months he contributed nothing whatever to the support of his wife and the children, two of whom, owing to want, had to be put into a school.

When arrested by Detective O'Connor in Peterborough (North Hants), it was stated, the defendant said that he had stopped sending money because of nasty letters which he had received from his wife.

DOMESTIC SERVANT CHARGED.

Mary Nugent, a young domestic servant, employed in Richmond place, Rathmines, was remanded until Monday on the charge of stealing a sum of £11 from her employer. The money, it was stated, was contained in a trunk which was in a bedroom, and when the defendant left, without giving any notice, the straps of the trunk were found cut and the money gone.

PHŒNIX ASSURANCE CO., LTD., AND LONDON GUARANTEE AND ACCIDENT CO., LTD.

As a result of the arrangements made for carrying on the business of the above two companies in the Irish Free State from one Branch Office—10-12 Trinity street, Dublin—the following appointments have been made to apply to the Dublin Branch Office as affecting both companies:—Manager, Mr. James R. Warner; Assistant Manager, Mr. R. Howard Bolton; Fire Secretary, Mr. John Erskine; Accident Secretary, Mr. Wilfred A. Page. —(Advt.).

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

ORDERS DISOBEYED.

PUBLICAN'S SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

Judgment was given in the appeal which was brought by Patrick Walker, publican, Rathfarnham, against a conviction and fine of £5 recorded against him by the District Justice on a charge that, on Sunday, the 6th September last, he had his premises open for the sale of drink after the legal closing hour.

The evidence of Guard Curtin was that several men were found by him in the shop, and that they had vessels containing porter before them. When the Guard asked the door-keeper why the men were there the latter said that it was "all his fault." Mr. Walker's evidence was that when he was going out for a walk he ordered his servant to act as door-keeper, allow no one to enter the place and put out those who were there.

Judge Dromgoole said that an offence against the law had been committed, but he recognised that Mr. Walker was not morally to blame. His servant had not carried out his orders; but the defendant should bear in mind that he was taking a risk when he went away and left the door open. The offence was proved, but, having regard to the extenuating circumstances, he thought it would be inexpedient to inflict any punishment, and he allowed the appeal.

Mr. Joseph Healy (instructed by Mr. Lemass) appeared for the appellant, and Mr. O'Flaherty appeared for the prosecution.

CHILD'S INJURIES.

£30 DECREE AGAINST BREAD VAN DRIVER.

(BEFORE JUDGE PIGOT.)

A little girl named Rose Anne Kavanagh, suing by her mother, living at 46 Hardwicke street, sought damages from Archibald Filgate, bread van driver, Summerhill parade, on account of injuries caused by the alleged negligence of the defendant in the driving of a motor car near Portmarnock on the evening of Sunday, 14th June last.

It was stated that the child and her mother were coming from Portmarnock Strand towards the station, and were walking on the footpath on the left-hand side of the road, when the defendant, who was driving in the same direction, drove the car on to the pathway and knocked down the child. The child received injuries to the face, knee and ankle. Two witnesses said that they saw the car backing off the footpath after the accident.

On behalf of the defendant it was stated that the car did not go on to the footpath, but was turning on a narrow road when the mudguard struck the child, who was on the edge of the path.

Judge Pigot gave a decree for £30 5s., of which £5 5s. was to go for medical attendance and £25 to be lodged in court.

Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. Gore and Grimes) appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. W. S. Barrett) for defendant.

UGANDA.

A GREAT MISSION FIELD.

On the 15th of November, 1875 (50 years ago to-morrow), a letter, remarkable at the time, and still more remarkable in its results as seen to-day, appeared in the Daily Telegraph. It was from Stanley, the explorer.

Twenty years before that date rumours had come from various missionaries in East Africa of the existence of a huge inland sea, stretching for hundreds of miles into the interior, and the Church Missionary Society published a map (known to geographers to-day as the "Slug" map), showing this great inland sea lying like a great slug across the empty (because unknown) space of Central Africa. The Royal Geographical Society took up the matter, and although many savants proved conclusively, from their arm-chairs, that no lakes could exist along the line of the Equator, the Society equipped and sent out a party of explorers, Speke, Burton and Grant, whose researches practically vindicated the missionary. They sent home reports, not only of the inland sea, which they at once named the Victoria Nyanza, but of a considerable kingdom lying on its north-western shore, and some 700 miles from the coast, where a young king had developed, amid much oppression and cruelty, something like an organised government.

Twelve years after this Stanley arrived in Uganda, the name of this newly-discovered kingdom, and, full of all that he saw during a prolonged stay, he wrote from its capital a glowing description of the country. The letter, several columns long, closed with an appeal to English Christian to come to the aid of this comparatively enlightened ruler, who had the welfare of his people at heart. In less than a month a sum of £24,000 had been received by the Society for the proposed mission, and during the following winter and spring it was equipped. Eight men were chosen from England, Scotland and Ireland, the man from this country being Mr. T. O'Neill, the Diocesan architect of Cork, who was killed not long after his arrival in Uganda.

The change wrought in Uganda in the short space of fifty years reads much more like a story from the "Arabian Nights" than a page of sober history. In Uganda now we have a Christian community, Protestant and Roman Catholic, of considerably more than a quarter of a million, with excellent hospitals for both native and European settlers. The education of the country, both male and female, while subsidised by the British Government, has been formally left in the hands of the missionary societies. Uganda bids fair to become one of the most important territories for which Britain as a Christian Power, is responsible, and if that responsibility existed, in the opinion of Stanley, fifty years ago, it is even more imperative to-day.

DISTRESS IN QUEEN'S COUNTY.

PROPOSED CONFERENCE.

The calling of a non-party conference by the Queen's County Council to consider the position of distress and unemployment, was the suggestion put forward by Mr. W. Davin, T.D., in a letter read at the meeting of Queen's County Council, acknowledging a resolution of that body urging a grant out of the Relief Schemes Vote, to relieve unemployment at Wolfhill.

The Council agreed to call the conference, and it was suggested that it be constituted as follows:—The members of the County Council, the T.D.'s for the constituency, Maryborough and Mountmellick Town Commissioners; clergymen of all denominations and one delegate each from the I.T.G.W.U., N.U.R., Farmers Union and Tillage Farmers' Organisation.

Mr. D. Kennedy suggested that delegates from Cumann na nGaedheal and the Republican Organisation be invited.

The Chairman (Mr. W. P. Aird) said that Mr. Kennedy was bringing in politics. The Farmers' Union was not political in the sense that Cumann na nGaedheal was.

Mr. Territt (Labour) said that this conference was a bread-and-butter conference and not a political conference.

Mr. Jessop proposed that as they could not agree on the original suggestion that, the constitution of the conference be the members of the Council and the elected T.D.'s for the constituency; each member of the Council to invite, or nominate, two other persons.

Mr. Brady proposed, as an amendment to Mr. Jessop's motion, that only the members of the County Council and the T.D.'s be invited.

The amendment was declared lost, and the original motion carried, four members dissenting, and November 23rd was fixed as the date of the proposed conference.

FAIRS ON BANK HOLIDAYS.

NO POWER TO OPEN BANKS TO CONVENIENCE TRADERS.

A letter in reply to its request to have the banks opened for two hours on Bank holidays which happen to fall on cattle fair days has been received by Fermoy Urban Council from Mr. C. H. Denroche, LL.B., Secretary, Irish Bank Officials' Association, who points out that neither the banks nor his association can compel the officials to work on Bank holidays, as it is illegal to open the banks on such days, which are statutory holidays.

In his letter Mr. Denroche referred to a second communication on the subject received from Mr. Norman Thompson, Secretary of the Irish Banks' Standing Committee, which, he said, was regarded by his (Mr. Denroche's) committee as unfair, as it suggested that the Officials' Association had power to consent to the banks remaining open.

ULSTER LIBERAL-UNIONISTS.

VIEWS ON BOUNDARY QUESTION.

The Ulster Liberal-Unionist Association yesterday held its annual meeting in the reading room of the Ulster Reform Club, Belfast. Mr. T. W. M'Mullan, M.P., presided.

The report for the year 1925 was submitted by the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Archibald Scott. It referred to the Association's losses through death during the past year, and touched on the general election for the Imperial Parliament and the Parliamentary election for Northern Ireland, stating that in both contests the members of the Association had worked heartily for the return of the Constitutional candidates. The report went on:—"We are day by day reading forecasts of the Boundary Commission's report, and, with all Irishmen who love their country, we trust that the findings will be such that Ulster can accept them without dishonour. We regret that, so far, we cannot state that there is any improvement in the unemployment situation in Northern Ireland. There is, however, generally a more hopeful feeling, and we trust that better times are ahead. It does not seem equitable that in Great Britain and Ireland, seven years after the Armistice, there should be more unemployed than in any of the other great countries engaged in the world's war, either as victors or vanquished. It does appear that under our present fiscal system the partners in industry—Capital and Labour—have to bear quite too great burdens both in taxation and in the strain of rehabilitating the national finances."

Mr. J. Maynard Sinclair, Hon. Treasurer, submitted the annual statement of accounts, which showed a satisfactory balance.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and statement of accounts, said that they had passed through a year of useful work and steady progress. The Boundary question had continued with them, but their Government maintained, and they maintained with it, that to alter the boundaries of Ulster by so much as a hairbreadth from those laid down in the settlement of 1920 was ultra vires. They awaited the findings of the Commissioners, confident that they would not attempt to attack the integrity of their Province, but would propose, at the most, minor adjustments of territory on either side of the border.

Mr. R. Simonton seconded the motion, and it was adopted.

MESSAGE FROM LORD CARSON.

In a message thanking the Association for a telegram, Lord Carson said:—

"I am happy to say my wife is improving every day, and hopes shortly to be able to return home. I need not tell you how pleased I was with the result of the election in South Belfast. I always believed that, in the long run, the good common-sense of the people of Ulster, and, indeed, of the people in this country, will direct them into the paths of prudence and progress, from which they will not be diverted by those who try to make use of the misfortune of unemployment for pushing ideals which have ever proved impracticable and disastrous."

On the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. W. E. Williames, D.L., Mr. W. J. McMillan, J.P., was unanimously elected President of the Association for the ensuing year, in succession to Mr. T. W. McMullan, M.P.

Mr. McMillan, on taking the chair, thanked the members for electing him as President. He appealed to them to take greater interest in political affairs, both in the Parliamentary and municipal spheres, and said that the Ulster Liberal Unionist Association stood for the promotion of sound and honest Parliamentary and municipal government.

On the motion of the President, seconded by Mr. James McConnell, J.P., Mr. T. W. McMullan, M.P., and Mr. J. A. McAuley were unanimously elected Vice-Presidents of the Association. Mr. Archibald Scott was re-elected Hon. Secretary, and Mr. J. M. Sinclair, Hon. Treasurer. Forty-three members of the committee were elected to constitute the General Committee, with the addition of the following seven new members:—Messrs. A. S. Davidson, W. J. Paul, F. J. Holland, H. Armstrong, Charles Morrow, R. Baillie, and T. McKinty.

CONFIDENCE IN THE GOVERNMENT.

Mr. W. E. Williames, D.L., J.P., moved:—"That the members of the Ulster Liberal Unionist Association, in general meeting, reaffirm their confidence in the Prime Minister (Sir James Craig, Bart., M.P.), and his Government; they put on record their appreciation of the Government's earnest and single-minded work for Ulster, and of the courageous and successful way in which it has grappled with many difficult problems; and they assure Sir James Craig of their continued loyal and whole-hearted support."

Mr. R. A. Mitchell, LL.B., seconded the motion, and it was carried.

Mr. A. B. Babington, K.C., M.P., Attorney-General for Northern Ireland, was welcomed by the chairman. He gave a brief address, in the course of which he thanked the members for their resolution, and for their assistance during his recent election campaign in South Belfast.

Mr. J. M. Andrews, Minister of Labour, appealed to the members to continue to take an active part, as they had hitherto done, in the public life of Ulster, and particularly to take an interest in their own local political associations.

On the motion of Sir R. J. Lynn, M.P., seconded by Mr. J. McAuley, Mr. T. W. McMullan was thanked for his services as President during the year.

DUBLIN MERCANTILE ASSOCIATION.

DUTY ON REPLACEMENT OF DUTIABLE GOODS.

A meeting of the General Committee of the Dublin Mercantile Association, Ltd., was held at 3 Burgh quay yesterday. Mr. Alfred Fannin presided, and there were also present Messrs. J. F. Atkinson, F. L. Barrett, Alexander Conan, William Field, E. S. Glanville, Frank A. Lowe, Thomas H. Mason, John P. McKnight, A. H. Seale, J. L. Stewart, Henry Thompson, Dr. J. A. Walsh, and A. R. Chapman, Secretary.

The subject of duty paid on dutiable goods, replaceable under guarantee, in cases in which articles had worn out within the time specified in the guarantee, was confirmed. Correspondence with the motor trade and the report of an interview with the Secretary of the Motor Traders' Association were placed before the meeting. Further action on the subject was indicated. It was pointed out that, with the increased number of duties on necessary articles of living, this subject has become more acute, and Irish traders are beginning to find that they cannot obtain the full value for such guarantees, in view of the double duty involved.

In a letter received from the Department of Local Government, on motor licences, a promise was given that full consideration would be given to the proposals of the Committee, when it is practicable to propose legislation for amendments of and addition to the existing law regarding motor vehicles.

A suggestion was made that the annual dinner of the Association should be revived.

CLARE RAIDERS' THREAT.

The house of Thomas Moran, in the Barefield district, near Ennis, was visited on Wednesday night by three masked men, who, resting on the half-door, "covered" the frightened household with a shot gun and two revolvers, and threatened that if a member of the family did not at once cease working on a road in the vicinity the consequences would be fatal. A discussion was maintained for a full half-hour, when, with a final threat, the raiders left.

During the absence of the owner at a dance, the house of P. Murphy, of Ballycorik, near Lissycasey, was entered and a shot gun was stolen.

FRENCH HISTORY.

THE LADY ARDILAUN LECTURES.

The last of Dr. Grant Robertson's Lady Ardilaun lectures on French History, delivered yesterday at Alexandra College, Dublin, covered the reign of Henry II., 1547 to 1559. Henry's reign, he said, was a complete contrast to those immediately preceding it, in the character of the Sovereign, his policy and the final results. The new King had to decide whether to follow a policy that had become almost traditional, or to strike out a new line for himself. Charles was still master of great dominions, and a menace to Europe; almost more of a menace on account of the failure of the attempts made by Francis to break the Habsburg ring in Italy.

The Renaissance and the Reformation were in their full stride, and France must decide on how to deal with them. A change of religion cannot be undertaken without changing a great deal more: the whole interpretation of life and of other values is altered as well. In the 16th Century this was particularly true in France, since it was held by all that the State embodied the Church; they were not really two separate bodies, but rather the State ecclesiastical, and the State secular. The last chapter of the Renaissance was to depend much on the character of this King, who was so unlike his predecessors. His education had been neglected. In his elder brother's lifetime it had not been of importance; his boyhood as a hostage for his father had been gloomy and unfortunate; games and sports were his chief interest; the intellectual and æsthetic side of life meant nothing to him; he was illiterate, with certain passionate convictions; from the point of view of the Renaissance he was a boor.

A WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

The results of his being handed over to Diane de Poictiers were astonishing. She reformed his religious faith; he was orthodox to the core, and came to look on Calvin as a noxious book-worm. She made him a statesman, and taught him to regard politics as his job and his duty. She discovered that he knew the difference between a good policy and a bad one, between a good man and a poor one; he had intuition, and was intensely French. He showed very early powers of judgment, and an unwillingness to put all his cards on the table. All his life Diane retained her power over him; she had been the maker of Henry II.

For a time there were no expeditions into Italy, only into Savoy, on the French side of the Alps. Then came the capture of Boulogne in 1852, by Francis of Guise, who was also the hero of Metz, which, with Toul and Verdun, were now in French hands. Francis then went into Italy, with the intention of striking a blow at the Imperialists, but campaigning there, away from his base and with an unwilling army, was a different business from fighting on the north-eastern frontier; there was none of the elan of the attack on Boulogne, and Francis soon saw that he would not add to his laurels. He was finally recalled by Henry, who was face to face with disaster at home. In 1855 came the abdication of Charles, and the division of his possession between his son and his brother. Thus began the two separate branches of the Habsburg house. Philip, his successor, was slow and cautious, unwilling to take risks.

HENRY'S STATESMANSHIP.

The next step was the capture of Calais by Francis of Guise, to the greath wrath of England. In the peace which Henry made he showed those qualities of statesmanship, moderation and judgment which are so necessary in making a successful peace after a successful war. He got what was essential and sacrificed all that was not; he restored the true line of French policy which had been departed from by his predecessors. Henry had not the glamour of romance and of adventure of Francis, but he had what was worth more, what may be described as "a right judgment in all things." His sons were, unfortunately, futile degenerates, with neither the judgment nor the virility of their father. All through his policy aimed at a unified France, with her frontiers closed against aggression. His wife, Catherine de Medici, was a very remarkable woman—a good mother, devoted to her children and faithful to her husband. She was, and always remained, altogether Italian in thought, heart and ambition, and her conception of policy and tactics was Machiavellian.

Henry's sudden death in the prime of life from an accident at a tournament left a difficult situation. Francis of Guise, belonging to the old guard of the religious point of view, the buckler of orthodoxy, and Coligny, Admiral of France, definitely a Calvinist and a Protestant—these two figures were typical of the divided life of France and of the tragic years of fighting that followed, when the great issues of national life and of the human spirit were fought out in the lecture room and by the sword, and France learned that another way to national unity must be found than the way of the sword.

At the close of the lecture Lord Ardee, who was in the chair, thanked Dr. Robertson for his interesting lectures, and spoke of the extent to which the College was indebted to Lady Ardilaun, whose generosity made it possible to secure the services of so eminent a lecturer.

In replying, Dr. Robertson said that he was always glad to lecture to appreciative and indulgent Dublin audiences, and also to be a lecturer under the Ardilaun Foundation.

TRADE UNION APPROVED SOCIETIES.

OBJECTION TO A UNIFIED SOCIETY.

The first annual general meeting of the Association of Trade Union Approved Societies in Ireland was held on Friday last, Mr. L. J. Duffy presiding over an attendance of twenty delegates, representing ten trade union approved societies, with an aggregate membership of 33,000.

The report of the executive committee stated that the Association had been accorded representation on the advisory committee of the National Health Insurance Commission, and, in connection with the Labour Party in the Dail, had suggested amendments to the National Health Insurance Act, 1924.

The Government Committee of Inquiry into Health Insurance had invited the Association to tender evidence, and Messrs. L. J. Duffy, P. Farrell and T. Waldron appeared before the Committee. It was pointed out that the statement in the interim report of that Committee, "that the witnesses were in favour of a unified society," was incorrect, the representatives of the Association having in no way committed themselves to the policy of unification. The executive considered that, even if unification were not persisted in, it was most likely that societies with small membership would be absorbed; and for this reason it was regretted that certain small societies remained outside the Association.

On the motion of Mr. F. Parkes, seconded by Mr. M. Somerville, the report and statement of accounts, which showed a satisfactory balance, were unanimously adopted.

On behalf of the executive committee the following resolution was proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Gillespie, and unanimously adopted:—"That this annual delegate conference of the Association of Trade Union Approved Societies in Ireland views with alarm the recommendations of the Committee of Inquiry into Health Insurance and Medical Services that all insured persons should be automatically transferred to a unified society, in the management of which they would have no voice, and which would be, at the same time, outside the control of the Oireachtas; we insist, further, that unless the health insurance scheme is administered directly as a State service, any attempt to prevent freedom of choice in the selection of an approved society is an unwarranted interference with the rights of insured persons."

A resolution was moved on behalf of the Distributive Workers' Union by Mr. B. Ring, claiming that the transfer fee of 2s. should be abolished, and that insured persons should be affiliated in the matter of free transfers as contemplated by the Act of 1911. The resolution was carried by 15 votes to 1.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Mr. L. J. Duffy (Distributive Workers); Vice-Chairman, Mr. P. Farrell (Irish Transport); Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Terence Waldron (Trade Union Congress). Executive Committee—Messrs. T. McKerr (National Union of Railwaymen); F. Gillespie (Irish Bakers); B. Ring (Distributive Workers); M. Somerville (Trade Union Congress); J. Nicholson (Brassfounders). Auditors—Mr. J. H. Bennett (Trade Union Congress), and Mr. W. J. Byrne (Distributive Workers).

WIDOWS' PENSIONS.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS SOCIETY SUGGESTION.

Mrs. G. Byrne presided at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Irish Mothers' Pensions Society, when Mr. J. P. Dunne, hon. secretary, submitted correspondence from President Cosgrave, the Ministers for Justice, Finance and Local Government, and Senator Sir E. Coey-Biggar, A. Byrne, T.D., and the Assistant Secretary Labour Party in reference to a resolution demanding immediate legislation establishing widows' pensions.

It was reported that the New South Wales Parliament had in its recent session allotted £500,000 for the endowment of widows' pensions, while in the Free State legislative programme this reform received no mention, although Northern Ireland and Great Britain have already dealt with the subject.

Arrangements were made for enlisting the assistance of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and other organisations in pressing for legislation, and for securing the issue of an interim report by the Poor Law Commission dealing with the question of widows' pension schemes.

STORE CATTLE SALES.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS AND CO.

Entries were on the same scale as last week, and again included a good proportion of aged cattle. Although there was a good attendance—yet some principal buyers were absent—the trade, on the whole, was not so brisk as last week, and some lots were passed through the ring unsold, but afterwards got placed satisfactorily. Horned bullocks and heifers made from £24 5/- to £18 10/-, or from 45/- to 40/- per cwt.; A.A. and Hereford cross, £23 5/- to £20 10/-, or from 49/6 to 45/-; pollies, £22 to £20 10/-, or from 47/- to 43/- per cwt.

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.

There was an excellent attendance of both home and cross-Channel buyers present at Thursday's sale, attracted by the number of good quality lots forward, and the sale of Sir Nugent T. Everard's pure-bred Herefords. The feature of the sale was the very good show of Aberdeen Angus bullocks, for which there was keen competition. Although prices did not show any marked improvement, trade was steady and a complete clearance effected. Sir Nugent T. Everard's pure-bred cows averaged 26½ guineas, the principal buyers being T. J. Wallace, Roscrea; Sir Ralph Kennedy, Hazlehatch, and P. Morris, Raheny. [illegible] nice quality [illegible] £12 5/-, and [illegible] the principal [illegible] polled bullocks [illegible] kerry's A.A. NEW CHURCH
TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by
VERY REV. JOHN G. O'REILLY, Adm.,
83 Marlborough street, Dublin.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

When the debate on education was resumed in the Dail yesterday Mr. John MacNeill, the Minister for Education, made a statement on his educational policy for the Free State.—(Page 7.)

Our Political Correspondent learns that the drafting of the Irish Boundary Commission's report will be completed within three weeks, and that already postal and other officials on the Free State side of the border have been advised to prepare for administrative changes.—(Page 7.)

Dublin detectives raided sixty houses in the city and suburbs early yesterday morning, and seized a revolver and ammunition, and books, maps and papers. Twenty persons were detained, but, with the exception of nine, all were subsequently released.—(Page 7.)

In the Central Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday, one of the three ex-members of the National Army charged with the robbery of £10,000 from the Roscrea Branch of the Bank of Ireland was convicted and sentenced to seven years' penal servitude. The other two prisoners were found not guilty.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Owing to the continued spread of foot-and-mouth disease, the Minister of Agriculture in London will put a new standstill Order into force on Monday over a large part of the Midlands and South of England.—(Page 7.)

The submarine cruiser M 1, which disappeared off the Devonshire coast on Thursday, has not been located.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At Liverpool yesterday Donzelon won the Liverpool Autumn Cup.—(Page 4.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were firmer, and the tendency was to lift prices. Rubber Shares improved on the rise in the commodity.—(Page 10.)

The Treasury bill rate, at 3⅞ per cent., was slightly below last week. This was in accordance with expectations, and discounts were steady. Loanable credits were in ample supply, and overnight loans were offered at 3-3¼ per cent.—(Page 10.)

In Dublin Guinness Shares were heavily bought from London, and rose 2½ to 77½, a new high record.—(Page 10.)

A Vote of Confidence.

The new session of Dail Eireann will be crowded with grave issues. Every hour which leaves the Shannon dispute unsettled injures the national reputation. The state of the country's finances, trade and railways demands a series of "heart-to-heart" talks between Ministers and deputies. The early publication of the Boundary Commission's report is likely to produce excursions and, perhaps, alarums in both Irish Parliaments. The fate of the medical profession in the Saorstát must be settled before the end of next February. Yet the Dail has opened its momentous session with an elaborate waste of three days. On Wednesday President Cosgrave moved "that the Dail approves of the policy of the Minister for Education." Mr. MacNeill made a statement, and a debate began which ran into Thursday, and, having occupied the whole of that day and of yesterday, has been adjourned until next Tuesday. Of course, education is an important topic, and a motion which challenges a vote of confidence in the Government is an important thing. The three days not merely would not have been wasted, but would have been well occupied, if Mr. MacNeill had given the Dail, as subject for its long debate, a full and clear account of his general policy and of the conditions and outlook in all departments of education. He did not seem to think, however, that anything of the sort was expected of him. The Free State's Minister for Education has many virtues. He is a gentleman and a scholar; no man questions his utter honesty of purpose, and he stands high above the petty intrigues and acrimonies of party politics. Unfortunately, he has the defects of his qualities as a philosopher and idealist. He cannot see the trees for the wood. He seems to have somewhere in the recesses of his mind a complete scheme of national education, but he is unable to project it upon the screen of Parliament. Thus, at the end of a three days' debate, the Dail remains entirely ignorant even of the major details of his policy. The average deputy—no expert in education—must feel to-day like the proverbial blind man searching in a dark room for a black hat which is not there.

The only fact which emerges from the debate is Mr. MacNeill's fundamental conception of the policy upon which, in due time, the whole system of the Free State's education is to be moulded. His ideal is the "conservation and development of Irish nationality." He proposes to establish, through the schools and universities, an Irish civilisation which will be in accordance with the people's genius, traditions and outlook. Mr. MacNeill's view of the Irish people's genius, traditions and outlook is quite arbitrary: we say with complete confidence that it is not that of eighty per cent. of the citizens of the Saorstát or of ninety per cent. of the citizens of Northern Ireland. He proposes to turn the country's eyes inward upon a civilisation which may, or may not, have existed many hundreds of years ago, and thus, in effect, to segregate this island from Europe and the world. In his eyes the policy of "education for export," which has given thousands of Irishmen a stepping-stone to fame and fortune in five continents, is a crime. He intends, as he said yesterday, to reverse that policy and "to put the very contrary in its place." In a word, he proposes to substitute the policy of barriers for that policy of bridges which hitherto has been found not unsuitable to our insular conditions. Mr. MacNeill's chief instrument for this purpose is the compulsory teaching of the Irish language. He has begun with its application to the primary schools, where it is proving to be remarkably effective. All other forms of culture are withering under this subsidised usurpation. Such subjects as history and geography are being taught to bewildered children through a language which they do not know, and other subjects, once regarded as part of a normal education, are being squeezed altogether out of the curricula.

Mr. MacNeill's system of education is still "a mighty maze," and, if it is "not without a plan," the secret of that plan remains hidden in his own breast. His policy of "intensive nationality" we can gauge, up to the present, only by the visible results of compulsory Irish. We must say that we admire Mr. MacNeill's attitude in the matter. He has the courage of his convictions. He has not the least intention of furnishing any deputies who support the motion with an excuse to pretend afterwards that they did not vote for compulsory Irish and intellectual segregation in the primary and secondary schools and in the universities of the Free State. Mr. MacNeill is right from his own point of view; for, of course, he will get his vote of confidence next week. The discipline of the Government party will ensure it; most members of the Farmers' Party and of the Labour Party probably will support it, and the opposition of the "Independents" will be as little effective as was their mild criticism during the course of the debate. Moreover, when he gets his vote of confidence Mr. MacNeill will have every title to claim that it is a national vote of confidence. In spite of the accumulating results of compulsory Irish, public opinion has not been roused against it in any effective form. The universities, the Churches, the schoolmasters' organisations, the county and municipal councils—none of these bodies has lifted its voice, and the Dail is free to judge their wishes by their silence. So Mr. MacNeill, who knows what he wants and is not afraid to fight for it, will get his vote of confidence. The future of Irish education, as Mr. Kipling would say, is another story.

Mind and Body.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin is an old-fashioned business man of large experience. On Thursday he was entertained in London by the National Institute of Industrial Psychology, and he remarked that the study of industrial life by the psychologist was something new to him. With that ready aptitude to assimilate the fruits of progress which makes the virile mind, Mr. Baldwin showed himself as eloquent a protagonist of the new conception as any young enthusiast. The object of applied industrial psychology is to reduce the costs of production by increasing the contentment of the worker; and Mr. Baldwin truly said that, where factory hands and other manual workers are condemned to toil in disagreeable surroundings at tasks of unrelieved monotony, fatigue rapidly results, and there is a poor return for the output of human energy. What is called "repetitive work" cannot be abolished; but, as Mr. Baldwin said, it can be rendered more tolerable by the introduction of rhythm. Psychological science has discovered, by experiment, the periods in which the power of attention ebbs and flows within the human unit, and has devised means by which the fullest results may be reaped from a given measure of time and energy. What science is applying to industrial life to-day was understood, instinctively or by tradition, in olden days. The sailor's chanty, which drove the capstan round with a "Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum," was a sound psychological expedient. Girls working in an Irish bookbinding factory have been heard singing in harmony those traditional spinning songs with the refrain of "Barbaro" by which their mothers used to lighten toil at the wheel. Environment is not less important than rhythm. In a great English factory it was found, when an unsightly piece of waste ground lying before the windows and under the eyes of the operatives, was turned into a garden and planted with joyous flowers, that the output of the staff rose by a large percentage. It would be interesting to obtain the opinion of a specialist in industrial psychology on the effect of the aspect of our Irish slums upon the inhabitants. That miserable dwellings, noise and congestion are accountable for a vast amount of intemperance is but a commonplace; but who can guess what measure of wastage in daily work is due to the depressing spectacle of our mean streets and our ruined thoroughfares?

Tutankhamen's Tomb.

After a long delay, caused by the differences between the Egyptian authorities and British experts, work has begun again on the tomb of Tutankhamen at Luxor. The most rigid secrecy is being enforced, but reports from the Valley of the Kings indicate that the discoveries which have been made in the actual tomb of the Egyptian king far surpass those of the ante-chamber which aroused such wonder throughout the world. The body of Tutankhamen has been found, wrapped in many yards of fine linen. It was surrounded with the most exquisite jewels and ornaments, the work of the famous goldsmiths and lapidaries of the Tel-el-Amarna school, and precious stones of the rarest worth were found sewn into the clothing of the mummy. As the dangers of accident were great, the authorities decided that the body should be examined by "X"-rays, and by this means they discovered that the dead king is wearing either a crown or a diadem, probably, of priceless artistry. Possibly, the most interesting "find" of the tomb, however, is a Royal Book of the Dead, the first of its kind that is known. The papyrus is illustrated profusely, and contains much historical information of the highest importance. The discoveries of Tutankhamen's tomb are likely to open a new field of research in the science of Egyptology. Little did this boy king dream three thousand years ago that his mummy, with its regal trappings, would cause hundreds of millions of men and women to marvel to-day. Yet what are three thousand years in the cosmic scheme? The long centuries that have rolled their history-laden way between King Tutankhamen and King Fuad are as brief as the twinkling of an eye.

"Mass Telepathy."

The British Broadcasting Company, ever anxious to increase the interest of its programmes, conducted a curious experiment in "mass telepathy" on Thursday evening. It "broadcasted" six items, on which "listeners-in" were asked to concentrate their minds, while a jury of seven persons was expected, through the medium of "mass telepathy," to discover the things about which they were thinking. This jury was told that five of the items were a letter of the alphabet, a number, a day of the week, a playing card and a geometrical figure, but was given no clue concerning the sixth. The results of the experiment were interesting, but hardly can be regarded as a proof of the power of "mass telepathy." None of the jury guessed the letter, which was K. They were equally unsuccessful concerning the number 7 and the day of the week, which was Saturday. One lady guessed the playing card and two the geometrical figure. The item to which no clue was given was the game of bridge; but the seven members of the jury, which included Commander Kenworthy and Lady Tree, were so divided in their opinions as to guess "a charity fund," "a lamp on the Cenotaph," "Charlie Chaplin," "zig-zag," "an after-dinner story," "a musical instrument" and "an arrow-shaped shape." Thus, we fear, a verdict of "not proven" must be returned. We all know the remarkable results that are obtained sometimes at holiday parties when telepathic experiments are made, and there is no doubt that the influence of one mind on another sometimes is very strong. "Mass telepathy," however, is a vastly different matter, and the day is far distant when the thoughts of the multitude will be able to be read with ease by a party in a city room.

QUESTIONS AT THE DAIL.

174 PERMITS ISSUED TO GERMANS.

KING'S COUNTY OFFICIALS.

The Minister for Finance, in the Dail yesterday, informed Mr. W. Davin that 33 applications were received in response to the first advertisement by the Civil Service Commissioners for the vacant posts of Secretary and Assistant Secretary to the Offaly County Council. A second advertisement was ordered because no suitable candidates presented themselves in the first instance.

THE SHANNON SCHEME.

In reply to Mr. T. Johnson, who asked whether any agreement, implicit or explicit, had been made with Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert in respect to the number of German workers to be employed in connection with the Shannon scheme, Mr. MacGilligan, Minister for Industry and Commerce, said there was no such agreement. Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert were bound to employ Irish workers as far as practicable, and they could only employ Germans with the approval of the chief engineer, given with due regard to the necessities of the case.

Mr. Johnson asked whether the Minister could say what was the policy of his Department regarding the test, in the case of German workmen, and whether consideration of the available labour in Ireland was taken into account before permits were issued to Germans.

Mr. MacGilligan said that they should take into consideration how far Irish labour for the work was available in fact and not in theory.

Mr. Johnson asked if the Minister was prepared to issue permits for any other nationality in the case of any other labour shortage.

Mr. MacGilligan said if persons of other nationalities applied their cases would be considered on their merits.

COOLIE WAGES.

Mr. Johnson—Will the Minister take into account the wages paid in countries from which these labourers will be drawn?

Mr. MacGilligan—No. We shall take into consideration the fact that Irish labour was not available.

Mr. Johnson—Whether coolies or negroes?

Mr. MacGilligan—Coolies, if you like, at a higher rate of wages than all mid-Europe gets.

Mr. D. Fitzgerald informed Mr. D. Morrissey that in accordance with the terms of the Aliens Order, 1923, leave was not given to an alien to enter Saorstat Eireann for the purpose of employment unless the Minister for Industry and Commerce permitted his employment. Before a permit was issued the Minister for Industry and Commerce considered whether suitable citizens of Saorstat Eireann were available to perform the work for which the alien was required. The number of aliens from Germany in respect of whom permits had been granted since August 1st, 1925, was 174.

Mr. Johnson asked if the Minister had any information to give as to the occupation of these Germans.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that they were German governesses and people employed on the housing business at Marino and on the Shannon scheme.

ORPHANS OF THE GREAT WAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May we again appeal through your valuable columns for presents of dressed dolls and toys for our Christmas tree for the orphans of the Great War? Books, sweets and crackers are most acceptable, and can be sent to 56 Upper Mount street, Dublin.

We are anxious that our upwards of two hundred orphans should not be forgotten this Christmas. There must be many fortunate little people who could easily spare something out of their cosy, well-stocked nurseries for other children whose sad fate is to battle through childhood without those that loved them.—Yours, etc.,

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The barometer continues to fall over Western Europe, but a ridge of relatively high pressure still covers a large part of the British Isles, and will maintain quiet fair to foggy weather. A trough of low pressure will cause further rain over the North-West Seaboard, and shallow irregularities on the Continent may cause local sleet in the South-East.

N.W. Ireland. — Wind southerly to south-westerly, fresh or strong at times; occasional rain, fairer intervals; visibility moderate; rather mild.

N.E., S.E. and S.W. Ireland.—Wind southerly, light or moderate; fair to cloudy, perhaps slight local rain; visibility moderate; moderate temperature.

S.W. Seaboard. — Wind between east and south, light or moderate; mainly fair; visibility moderate; sea slight.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind southerly or variable, light; fair to cloudy; local coast fog; sea slight.

N.W. Seaboard. — Wind southerly, fresh or strong at times; some rain; visibility moderate; sea rather rough.

THE CONNAUGHT RANGERS.

Among the wreaths which were laid on the Cenotaph in Dublin on Armistice Day was a beautiful cross, which bore the following inscription:—"To the glorious memory of the officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the Connaught Rangers, 1914-1918. From Colonel Tamplin, Captains Tuite, Maguire, Dillon, Brown, Lieutenants Maguire, E. Maguire, Martin, McCormack."

LONDON LETTER.

THE SUBMARINE DISASTER.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The disaster to the M 1 has stirred London deeply; for the news inevitably came as a great surprise and shock this morning. The disaster once again directs attention to the great danger run by submersible craft when they are taking part in naval manœuvres or other exercises. Submarines are not generally regarded as beautiful, and the M Class has been described as the ugly duckling of the submarine flotilla; but, burdened with a twelve-inch gun apiece firing an eight hundred and fifty pound projectile, the M 1 and her two sisters were very useful and practicable, if not winners in the beauty class. By its loss the Navy is deprived of the services of some valued instructors and a capable personnel undergoing training.

Bread Prices.

The Food Council and bakery trade have been unable to come to any arrangement in regard to the regulation of bread prices. The controversy over the price relationship between flour and bread has now been raging for some weeks, and it was with a view to ending it that the Council tried to make an arrangement. The next step to be taken by Lord Bradbury will probably take the form of a report to the President of the Board of Trade. The President, if he thinks fit, may initiate legislation to deal with the matter, but, since that would mean a new fixing of food prices with what would almost amount to control, legislation is scarcely likely.

American Aeroplane Engines.

When the House of Commons is sitting next week something will be heard about an order placed by the Air Ministry in the United States for thirty aeroplane engines. The value of the engines is about £60,000, but it is not argued by the Ministry that the engines are superior to the standard engines made in this country. The industrial group of the House of Commons resents the implication that United States engines are superior to any to be obtained here, and more particularly as the order follows upon the acquisition of an American designed parachute for use in the R.A.F.

The Boundary Problem.

Sir James Craig, in his statement before the Grand Orange Lodge of County Down, is reported to have said that there was a prospect that the Irish Boundary Commission would make its report at the end of the month. Sir James Craig, of course, has information denied to the ordinary person; but it is almost certain that the Premier of Northern Ireland would agree that this statement was only an expression of his own views. Beyond the fact that every day necessarily means an advance toards the conclusion of the really arduous labours of the Commission and its staff, there is no real indication that the report is in sight. When it ultimately does appear it will show, in all probability, that the Commissioners have performed their task with almost meticulous care. So much can be judged from the energy and zeal which they have displayed and the time that they have taken.

German Disarmament.

If the German Government is able to carry out its undertaking to replace General von Seeckt as Commander-in-Chief of the Reichswehr, the main obstacle to agreement regarding disarmament will be removed. The control and organisation of the Reichswehr have been under discussion for a long while, and, though General von Seeckt may not have been referred to by name by the Inter-Allied Military Mission, it has been apparent that he was regarded as an unsuitable occupant of the post. His replacement by a civilian Minister will be welcomed by the Allies, though it may not meet with the approval of the German Nationalists. As soon as the new Minister is appointed, the General Staff has been dissolved, and military titles have been abolished in the police force, Germany will be notified that disarmament has been satisfactorily completed, and the evacuation of the Cologne zone will be a speedy consequence.

Cologne.

It is understood in military circles that, quite possibly, a beginning may be made with the evacuation of Cologne on December 1st, the day on which the Security Pact is to be signed in London. After the Pact has been signed it may be known as the Treaty of London, since it is one of the very few agreements relating to the war that will have been completed here. The evacuation of Cologne will not at first be on a great scale, since it will take some weeks to remove all the British troops and their baggage, but no time will be lost in completing it.

Mr. Walter Guinness.

The opposition shown to Mr. Baldwin in certain quarters is to be extended to Mr. Walter Guinness in the by-election which he has to fight in the Bury St. Edmund's Division. It is stated to-day that feeling everywhere among the farmers is strong against the Government, and that they feel that they have a unique chance for striking either a bargain or a blow for their livelihood. An increasing number is determined to withhold support from Mr. Guinness—even to vote against him. This is an indication of what Mr. Guinness may expect, but it is unlikely that such attacks will make any very great difference in the position: for Mr. Guinness is a highly respected member, and his abilities are well recognised in his constituency. He is also a practical farmer, a point that will tell greatly in his favour.

Christmas Books.

A partial settlement has been reached in the dispute between the book trade employers and the National Union of Printing, Bookbinding and Paper Workers, and the publishers resumed work to-day. This settlement raises the embargo on the periodicals issued by several firms, and newsagents will now receive their usual supplies. Some sixty magazines, with fourteen weeklies, have been "held up" during the dispute, while as many as three hundred and fifty agents were unable to secure their ordinary supplies. The agreement has come just in time to save the Christmas book trade.

Epstein's Rima.

It might have been supposed that Rima, Epstein's figure in the Hudson Memorial panel in Hyde Park, had been forgotten; but late last night it was painted green by a party of students. Experts agreed to-day that some considerable trouble and expense will be necessary before the paint can be removed without damaging the figure. Mr. Epstein, when seen to-day, preferred to say nothing about the matter, but other people who are deeply interested in the memorial are very resentful. Mr. R. B. Cunningham Graham, the Chairman of the Hudson Memorial Committee, said that he hoped that no effort would be made to clean the memorial, in order that the ignominy of the act might be fixed on the perpetrators of it throughout this generation. This is almost as comminatory as some of the things said of Rima.

THE KING'S VISIT TO LORD IVEAGH.

The King concludes his visit to Lord Iveagh at Elveden Hall to-day, and will proceed to York Cottage, Sandringham, where he will be joined by the Queen. Their Majesties return to Buckingham Palace on Monday week. The King enjoyed some excellent sport yesterday, birds rising well before the guns.

IRISH IN THE SCHOOLS.

DAIL DEBATE.

MR. MACNEILL ON HIS POLICY.

"NATIONALITY."

THE EXAMPLE OF DENMARK.

Yesterday Mr. John MacNeill, the Minister for Education, began his reply in the Dail to the criticisms that had been passed on his educational policy.

He declared his policy to be the conservation and development of Irish nationality and a closer relation between his Department and those of the Ministers of Lands and of Commerce. His policy, he declared, was founded upon faith and confidence in the future of the nation in its capacity for development and for repairing the injuries that it had suffered since the national education system was established.

FARMERS' ATTITUDE.

SUPPORT FOR SENSIBLE POLICY.

Mr. J. Conlan denied that farmers were out of sympathy with the cause of better education. The deputies representing the farmers were prepared to support the Minister and the Government in any sensible and well-thought-out course that might be brought forward for the improvement of education.

Mr. McGoldrick said that the criticism of the Minister's policy by some of the deputies was mainly directed towards a nervous apprehension that the atmosphere of the educational policy of the country might be too strongly associated with the Irish national aspirations and with the teaching of the national language. Some deputies insinuated that the more mercenary interests of the nation were likely to be found in conflict with the aims and objects underlying the policy of the Minister, and that those mercenary interests should have attention paid to them. Unquestionably that was so, but the Minister should take good care that he uses the machinery of his Department in such a way that the main and paramount interests of the country should prevail over the more mercenary and materialistic interests. It was the duty of the Minister to see that in everything affecting education the Irish language was kept in the same position that it occupied in the Constitution of the Saorstat. He considered that the arrangements made by the Department for the teaching of Irish were wrong. Teachers should not be paid for learning their own national language, but should be placed on a lower scale if within a certain time they did not qualify themselves in Irish.

On questions of detail, he said that there should be amalgamation of schools in many areas. The system of maintaining male and female schools in the same building and with two separate staffs should be done away with. School holidays should be arranged for the period of the year when it was difficult, because of the weather, for children in rural areas to attend.

Mr. Good—How would the deputy like to take his own holidays in the winter time?

Mr. McGoldrick—I know that a certain sacrifice must be made, but sacrifices must be distributed for the general welfare of the community. I say that in this matter the interests of the children should predominate.

MINISTER'S REPLY.

The Minister for Education replied to the different points raised in the debate. He defined the word "policy" in the motion before the House as being the general and distinctive aim of his Department with regard to Irish education as a whole. Deputy O'Connell had described him as a philosopher living somewhere in the clouds, detached from the realities of education and the actualities of life. He wished that he could live up to that beautiful legend. There were occasions, there were recent occasions, on which he could heartily wish that it was his lot to be detached from realities and actualities.

He found in the criticisms to which he had been subjected two definitions of education. One was by Deputy Good, who said that the function of education was to prepare people for the battle of life. Had he said anything so vague as that he would deserve a good deal of the criticism that had been levelled at him. On some of the benches in that House the definition might be interpreted as preparing for other peoples' battle of life. Another definition was that the business of education was to enable young people to form a right judgment about life. If he had said anything so highly philosophical he should be placed on the pedestal that Deputy O'Connell had prepared for him.

IRISH NATIONALITY.

"I have," he went on, "declared my policy of education to be the conservation and development of Irish nationality. Deputy Good has asked what I meant by nationality. By Irish nationality I mean Irish civilisation, the form and type of civilisation in accord with the genius of this people, with their traditions, with their outlook on the future. If there should be any accusation of vagueness arising from that I should say further that their civilisation comprises, in one, all the aspects of their ordinary life, the economic, the cultural, the spiritual, not excluding even their recreations and amusements. I am told that that is not a policy, that it is not intelligible. I am prepared to go before any crowd of Irishmen and ask them whether that is or is not a policy intelligible to them.

"The main fact that I had to face is that any department when it came into existence found itself in charge of a State system of education which had no such general aim or policy, which stood—and in its inception stood—deliberately, to educate the youth of Ireland as if Ireland was nothing to them but their breeding ground, which did not endeavour to interest them in the life and progress of the nation to which they belonged, which cared nothing—I say it emphatically—for their economic welfare as a community, which aimed directly at cutting them off from the cultural traditions of their own past and depriving them of any inspiration which they could derive from that source. My policy has been, is and will be, as long as I have the responsibility of my office, to reverse all that, and to put the very contrary in its place."

THE ECONOMICAL SIDE.

On the economic side the policy would have special regard to the economic policy instituted and carried on by the departments of his colleagues, the Minister for Lands and Agriculture and the Minister for Industry and Commerce; and he trusted that that accord between education and economic development would be of a very intensive kind. He proposed that in every rural district the school, the teacher and the work of the school should be characterised by an intense interest in the conditions and development of the district in which they laboured, and of the community for which the school had been established, and that they should not have their eyes on the ends of the world. For him the test of the success of any school in Ireland would not be the successes of individual pupils who have gone away from that community, and attached themselves elsewhere. It would not be for him a success for a rural school if it provided Prime Ministers for every country in the world if, at the same time, it was not associated with the development and advancement and improvement, culturally, economically, spiritually, and in every other way of the district in which that school was situated. The same applied to secondary schools, and also to the universities.

The daily newspapers had sought within the past few weeks to focus attention upon Denmark, which country they had held up as an example. He was prepared to take Denmark as an example. Mutatis mutandis he did not say that everything done in Denmark should be copied in Ireland. He should

POLICE RAIDS IN DUBLIN.

60 HOUSES SEARCHED.

TWENTY PERSONS DETAINED.

Nearly sixty houses in Dublin and the district, including Kingstown, were raided yesterday morning by a force of detectives from the Detective Division, College street, Dublin.

Twelve Crossley tenders and Ford cars, containing seventy-five detectives, under Superintendent P. Ennis, were engaged in the searches, which began at 6 a.m. and concluded at about 9.30 a.m. Twenty persons were detained, but, with the exception of nine, all were afterwards liberated.

THE TREASON ACT.

SINN FEIN OFFICES ENTERED.

It is understood that the raids were carried out under the provisions of the Treasonable Offences Act, 1925, and were made with the object of discovering treasonable documents relating to certain activities that have been taking place of late.

The Sinn Fein offices in Suffolk street were thoroughly searched, and all books and documents in the place were closely scrutinised. Mr. de Valera's rooms, overhead, were also entered, and as a result of the investigations there a number of private papers and documents were carried away. The search here lasted from 8 a.m. to 9.30 a.m.

The house of Mr. John Lawlor, General President of the Workers' Union of Ireland, was visited during the searches, but nothing was seized.

The houses of a number of well-known members of the Republican organisation in the city and suburbs were amongst those visited, but in no case, it is said, were any seizures made.

TWENTY PERSONS DETAINED.

Documents and literature relating to the Republican movement were taken from thirty of the houses. In two cases military books, maps and other documents were found. A parabellum repeating revolver with seven rounds of ammunition were discovered in a chest of drawers in one house in Newport street.

Twenty persons, in all, were detained, but following investigations into their cases at the police station eleven men were released.

Of the nine men who remain in custody three were subsequently charged under the Treasons Act at the Dublin District Court.

It is authoritatively stated that in all probability no charges will be preferred against the other six men, and that they will be released at an early date.

BOMB THROWN IN DUBLIN.

EXPLOSION IN A COALYARD.

A bomb was thrown into a coal yard at Spencer Dock, Dublin, at about 10 o'clock last night.

It appeared to have come from the direction of Gill street, and fell on a heap of coals which had been discharged from a collier which was lying near.

Nobody was injured by the explosion.

THE SHANNON SCHEME CRUX.

LABOUR CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER THE POSITION.

The National Executive of the Irish Labour Party and Trades Union Congress have summoned a special conference of representatives of trades unions engaged in the railway, sea and road transport, building and engineering industries, to consider the situation arising out of the attitude of the Government and Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert in regard to the conditions of employment on the Shannon scheme. The conference will be held in Dublin on Monday next.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DOLLYMOUNT.

WIDENING OF ROADS.

A big improvement in the Dollymount district is indicated in the public announcement that the Dublin City Commissioners intend to acquire land for the widening of the Strand road and Seafield road.

The plan is to remove the wall on the north side of the tramway lines, from the Bull Wall entrance to the corner of Seafield road, for the purpose of widening Strand road by ten feet. From Danesfield, at the sea end, Seafield road will be widened by the removal of the wall on the west side. This will give space for the carrying out of the main portion of the improvement scheme—namely, the conversion of Seafield road, from Clontarf Castle to the sea, into a modern thoroughfare of an average width of fifty feet. So many new houses of a good type have been built, or are in course of construction, on Seafield road that the remaking of the roadway has become a necessity.

CO. ARMAGH ELECTION.

MR. W. R. TODD AND THE BOUNDARY.

Mr. W. R. Todd, the Unbought Tenants' and Labourers' Association candidate in the Armagh election for the Northern Parliament, spoke at a large meeting in the Fair Green, Keady, yesterday.

The Chairman (Mr. H. G. Barton) expressed the hope that the unbought tenants in the six counties would soon enjoy like privileges in the matter of land purchase to those enjoyed in the Free State.

Mr. Todd contended that every piece of legislation passed by the Northern Parliament had been for the benefit of Belfast, and that the rural districts had received no consideration. If the farmers believed that he would support their interests, he asked them to give him their votes. The Boundary question was being drawn as a red herring across their path. It had nothing to do with the issue at this election: it had been solved several months ago.

Mr. George Henderson, M.P., and others also spoke.

VITAL STATISTICS.

LOWER MORTALITY RATE IN DUBLIN.

The Free State Registrar-General's return for the week ended the 7th inst. shows that in the Dublin area there were 256 births (125 boys and 131 girls), and 109 deaths (57 males and 52 females). The deaths registered represented an annual rate of 11.8 per 1,000 of the population. During the forty-four weeks ended last Saturday, the death-rate averaged 15.1, and was 3.6 below the mean rate for the corresponding portions of the ten years 1915-1924.

The deaths for the week included one from enteric fever, two from measles, one from scarlet fever, six from diarrhœa and enteritis of children under two years, and one from influenza. Tuberculosis caused thirteen deaths; fourteen were caused by cancer, and seven by diseases of the heart. There were three from pneumonia and seven from bronchitis. Twenty-one of the deaths registered during the week were of children under five years of age, and 31 deaths were of persons aged 65 and upwards.

In Cork the births were 33 (22.4 per 1,000 per annum of the population), and the deaths were 14 (9.5 per 1,000). In Limerick the births were 41 (55.5 per 1,000) and the deaths 13 (17.6 per 1,000). In Waterford the births were 10 (19 per 1,000) and the deaths 5 (9.5 per 1,000).

The average death-rate in 105 large English towns for the week was 10.5 per 1,000, and for 16 principal towns of Scotland it was 13.1 per 1,000.

BOUNDARY REPORT AWAITED.

POSTAL AND OTHER PREPARATIONS.

From Our Political Correspondent.

In well-informed quarters it is stated that the drafting of the Irish Boundary Commission's report will be completed within the next three weeks and that the Commissioners may hold but one further meeting before the Chairman (Mr. Justice Feetham) sails for South Africa.

Heads of post offices on the Free State side of the border are preparing for the administrative changes that must follow the Commission's findings, and there is reason to believe that the Ministry of Industry and Commerce has instructed the officers of at least two Labour Exchanges to arrange for an extension of their jurisdiction.

In the meantime deputations from the border districts continue to visit Ministers in Dublin. One, composed of County Monaghan Nationalists, yesterday waited upon Mr. Ernest Blythe, Free State Minister of Finance, in regard to recent newspaper forecasts of the Commission's findings. Its members desired to be assured that no County Monaghan territory would be transferred from the Free State to Northern Ireland.

ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES MAY BE NECESSARY.

In the Dail yesterday Mr. Johnson asked Mr. J. J. Walsh, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, whether his attention had been drawn to reports appearing in the Press to the effect that the British Post Office authorities were proposing to take over certain postal services in the Saorstat, and whether he had any information to give on the subject.

Mr. J. J. Walsh, in reply, said that he had seen the newspaper reports, but he was not inclined to attach any special importance to them. It was true, however, that discussions had taken place in view of the administrative changes likely to be made necessary as a result of the Boundary Commission's report.

Mr. Baxter—Are we to understand that the British Post Office is to take over post offices which are at present within the area of the Free State?

Mr. Walsh—I don't think the deputy is entitled to understand any such thing. I would refer him to the answer given by the President to Deputy Johnson's question a few days ago.

ULSTER'S DISPLAY AT WEMBLEY.

DUKE OF YORK'S LETTER OF THANKS.

Sir James Craig, Bart., Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, has received the following letter from the Duke of York, who was President of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley:—

"White Lodge, Richmond Park.

"Dear Sir James,—As President of the British Empire Exhibition, I wish to congratulate Ulster on the fact that, for the second season of the Exhibition, it materially extended and improved the splendid display made in 1924.

"The Ulster Pavilion, in the Palace of Industry, was one of the finest features of the Exhibition in 1925. It gave an impressive picture of the wonderful resources of Northern Ireland.

"Please convey to all who have taken part in Ulster's display at Wembley Park my sincere thanks for their work.

"I am,
"Yours sincerely,
(Signed). "Albert, President."

BELFAST TRAMWAYS DISPUTE.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

The threatened strike of Belfast City tramway drivers and conductors will not take place. The point in dispute—that in case of a report of a breach of regulations, the man concerned is to be supplied with copies of such report, to enable him to reply to any charge that may be contained therein—has been conceded by the tramway management.

It was stated at a meeting last night between the men's leaders and the tramway representatives that the Tramway Committee will make inquiry in England about another point which was raised by the men—that in the event of an employé being called before the management for an alleged offence, he shall have the right, if he so desires, to be accompanied by his trade union representative.

With these concessions the men expressed themselves satisfied, and for the present the danger of a strike has passed.

MIXED IRISH CLASSES IN MAYO.

MONSIGNOR D'ALTON'S STRONG PROTEST.

At the Mayo Technical Instruction Committee Monsignor D'Alton, P.P., D.D., V.G., Ballinrobe, made a strong protest against co-education in connection with the Irish classes conducted under the auspices of the Committee, remarking that the practice to hold classes for both sexes at night was most objectionable, and that he was afraid that it was not their zeal for Irish, but something else, that brought them to the classes.

Mr. J. J. Collins, P.C., said that they had both sexes in the Gaelic League classes in the old days, when, he believed, it was genuine enthusiasm for the language that brought them together. The classes were held in the Christian Brothers' schools, and no untoward incident ever occurred.

Monsignor D'Alton—The people may have been more pious then than now.

The Secretary inquired whether it was suggested that it should apply to town and country.

Monsignor D'Alton—Human nature is the same in town and country. Co-education for adults when the classes are held at night, and particularly during the winter months, is not commendable.

He added that to hold separate classes would be the test to see whether it was knowledge of Irish or something else that was sought.

It was decided to consider the matter next session.

THE DAMAGED CABLE SHIP.

It has been learned that only repairs which are necessary to allow the damaged cable ship Lord Kelvin to put to sea will be carried out at Queenstown. The vessel is expected to leave the port to-day, when she will proceed to Messrs. Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson's yard at Newcastle-on-Tyne, where all repairs will be effected.

REAFFORESTATION IN GALWAY.

The Department of Agriculture (Forestry Section) has started tree planting on a large scale in the vicinity of Creggs, Co. Galway. It is intended to plant the entire summit and slopes of Mount Mary, the scene of a disastrous bog slide about ten or twelve years ago. The work of planting, fencing and draining started on Monday. A considerable number of men have been employed at a salary of 34s. a week, and it is understood that many more men will be employed as the work progresses.

DRASTIC CATTLE DISEASE ORDER.

MARKETS CLOSED IN SIXTEEN COUNTIES.

ALL MOVEMENTS OF STOCK PROHIBITED.

COLONEL GUINNESS'S BAN TO LAST FOR THREE WEEKS.

With the object of checking the spread of foot-and-mouth disease, which is ravaging a large part of the Midlands and South of England, Colonel Walter Guinness, the Minister of Agriculture, has framed a drastic stand-still Order, which will become operative on next Monday and will remain in existence for at least three weeks.

The disease has appeared in sixteen counties, and the new Order applies to the country surrounding the infected areas. It will stop the holding of all markets for store stock in these districts, and no movement of cattle, sheep, pigs or goats into, out of, or within the regulated area will be permitted.

MINISTER'S LETTER.

OBJECT OF THE ORDER.

In his letter to the local authorities last night the Minister of Agriculture says that the country is faced not only with the danger of a re-invasion of the disease from Continental sources where it is extremely prevalent, but also from the increasing number of separated centres in England.

There are at present ten large infected areas in England, and one hundred and fifty outbreaks have been confirmed in sixteen counties during the past seven weeks.

The greatest potential danger lies in the exposure of animals at markets in the incubative stage of the disease.

Feeling it imperative to take such precautionary measures as are possible to prevent the development of a still more serious situation, Colonel Guinness has come to the conclusion that the time has arrived to impose a partial stand-still Order over the Midlands and South of England, to operate as from midnight on Monday next. It is contemplated that the Order will be of a temporary character only, and the Minister hopes that it may not be necessary to continue it for more than three weeks.

MARKETS STOPPED.

The new Order applies to that part of the country surrounding the existing infected areas. Its main purpose is to prevent the holding of any markets of store stock in the regulated area and to control the movements of store animals generally, while allowing every possible facility for the disposal of fat stock intended for immediate slaughter. Markets of the latter will be allowed in regulated areas subject to veterinary inspection. No movement of any kind will be allowed outwards to places in any free area. This, the letter says, will afford the desired protection against any risk of infection to those parts of the country not included in the new regulated area—namely, Scotland, the Northern counties of England, Wales, East Anglia and Devon and Cornwall.

Mr. Guinness feels sure all concerned will support the measure as being in the best interests of the industry.

THE REGULATED AREA.

The "Regulated Area" to which the new Order will apply comprises the counties—including all county and other boroughs geographically situated therein—of—

Bedford,	Gloucester,
Berks.,	Hereford,
Buckingham,	Hertford,
Cambridge,	Huntingdon,
Chester,	Isle of Ely,
Derby,	Isle of Wight,
Dorset,	Kent,
Essex,	Lancaster

(except the county borough of Barrow-in-Furness and the petty sessional divisions of North Lonsdale and Hawkshead).

Leicester,	Salop,
Lincoln (Holland and Kestevan Divisions),	Somerset,
	Southampton,
	Stafford,
London,	Sussex,
Middlesex,	West Surrey,
Monmouth,	Warwick,
Northampton,	Wilts.,
Nottingham,	Worcester, and the
Oxford,	West Riding of
Rutland,	Yorkshire (but
Soke of Peterborough,	not including the City of York)

Excluding any portions of any of those counties as are for the time being comprised within an infected area for the purposes of the Foot-and-Mouth Disease (Infected Areas Restrictions) Order of 1925.

It also comprises in the County of Flint the petty sessional Division of Overton.

Under the Order, "The movement of cattle, sheep, pigs, goats or deer into, out of or within the regulated area subject to the Order is prohibited," except under the conditions set out.

DERRY SHIPPING.

HEAVY FALLING-OFF DUE TO CATTLE TRADE DECLINE.

At the monthly meeting of the Londonderry Port and Harbour Commissioners yesterday, it was reported that during the month of October eight Transatlantic passenger steamers, with a tonnage of 81,222; 39 regular cross-Channel steamers (17,663 tons), four foreign trade (6,542), forty-one coal-laden (5,866), and ten other vessels (1,210), making a total of 102 vessels (112,503 tons) arrived at the port; against eight Transatlantic passenger steamers (59,187 tons), forty-five regular cross-Channel steamers (20,712 tons), five foreign trade (6,416 tons), fifty coal-laden (6,721 tons), and fifteen other vessels (1,887 tons), a total of 123 vessels (94,923 tons), during the corresponding month last year.

Sir John McFarland referred to the falling off, to the extent of 3,000 tons, in the cross-Channel tonnage.

Mr. W. McCarter said that this was due mainly to the heavy falling off in the live-stock trade. The cattle shipments from the port for October were the worst during his thirty-five years' experience, but it was general throughout all Irish ports.

AUSTRALIA AND CHILD ENDOWMENT POLICY.

BRISBANE, Friday.

In an interview to-day Mr. M'Cormack, Premier of Queensland, admitted that the Government had abandoned the proposal for child endowment because it was an economic impossibility.—(Reuter.)

SPANISH MILITARY CONSPIRACY.

CIVILIANS SAID TO BE IMPLICATED.

From "The Times" Correspondent.
MADRID, Friday.

An extraordinary crop of rumours is circulating widely with regard to a military conspiracy, in which civilian elements are reported to be implicated. According to accounts reaching Madrid from the provinces, a few military officers in Barcelona, Calvados, and Seville are stated to have been in communication with one another for the purpose of organising a coup to kidnap the Marquis de Estella, in the belief that if he could be confined to close quarters an impossible situation might be created for the Directory.

According to these accounts, which must be accepted with the greatest reserve, the conspiracy was discovered before arrangements were complete, by a clue picked up by the police at Cordoba.

It is certain that arrests of civilians have been made, and possibly officers at Barcelona and Madrid have also been arrested; but whether simply as a precautionary measure, or because of definite evidence is the secret of the authorities, who maintain absolute reserve. Life is quite normal in Madrid. Not one word or hint of these events has been allowed to be published in the Press, and the rumours circulate only in the limited circles of those who are curious about possible political developments.

Two years of severe censorship have bred absolute indifference among most classes, both high and low, who go about their business with confidence that the Directory, which seized power so easily, and has maintained it so long and peacefully, is able to cope with any likely kind of opposition.

TUT-ANKH-AMEN'S MUMMY.

BODY COVERED WITH GOLD.

LUXOR, Friday.

Tut-Ankh-Amen's mummy was taken out of its wrappings to-day. The body was found covered with gold, and stars of gold were on the heart and lungs. A large golden dagger was with the body. It is expected that an official communiqué will be published to-morrow.—(Reuter.)

DEMONSTRATION BY ZAGHLULISTS.

BANNED MEETING HELD IN CAIRO.

CAIRO, Friday.

In spite of the order given by the Minister of the Interior to the police to prevent the holding of a Zaghlulist meeting to-day to celebrate the anniversary of Zaghlul Pasha's visit to the Residence in 1918 to demand independence, which order the Zaghlulists declare was not officially communicated to them, an attempt was made to hold the meeting this afternoon. A strong force was present, but several groups rushed the police, and sixty-five managed to gain an entrance to the Zaghlulist Club. Several bore evidence of their scuffle with the police, and the police themselves did not escape without abrasions.

Fathallah Pasha Barakat, ex-Minister of the Interior, addressing those who had fought their way into the meeting, said that this was the first time they had been prevented from celebrating the anniversary. Even under British martial law they had been permitted to hold this annual meeting. Zaghlul Pasha himself did not attempt to leave his house, in front of which a double row of police are stationed, and only ex-Ministers were admitted. Fathallah Pasha Barakat telephoned to the Parquet, a representative of which attended the Zaghlulist Club after the meeting and took down a statement.—(Reuter.)

CAPTAIN ARTHUR'S CASE.

RELEASE EXPECTED SHORTLY.

PARIS, Friday.

Contrary to yesterday's expectations of the immediate release of Captain Arthur, who was yesterday sentenced to thirteen months' imprisonment, in view of the fact that he has been in prison since last December, and has thereby earned a certain remission of sentence, it is now stated that he will not be released until the end of this month.

His counsel, however, though admitting that he was by no means sure, thinks that he will be released before the end of the month.

The actual facts are that Captain Arthur was arrested in Paris on December 1st, 1924. He was detained at the police headquarters pending extradition until January 30th, on which date, extradition having been abandoned, he was charged with misdemeanour under the French Law and locked up in the Sante Prison. He has now spent nine months and twelve days in solitary confinement at the Sante. He was sentenced to thirteen months, and is entitled to a reduction of one quarter of his sentence because of the time spent in solitary confinement. He is, therefore, liable to serve a term of nine and three-quarter months detention, his two months confinement while awaiting extradition not being counted as part of the term to which he was sentenced. He thus has a fraction of one month still to serve.

DARING ATTEMPT TO ROB A TRAIN.

ITALIAN BRIGANDS CAPTURED

ROME, Friday.

A Bologna telegram reports a daring attempt by bandits on a train which left here for Rome to-day, one carriage of which was occupied by employés of the Banca d'Italia, who were conveying twelve million lire of bank notes to Rome. The bandits cut through the carriage partition at the spot where the packets of notes had been placed, and succeeded in opening a packet and extracting parcels of thousand-lira notes. They were surprised, however, and at once arrested.—(Reuter.)

(From Our Own Correspondents.)
PARIS, Friday.

Despite the official secrecy which veiled the sessions in Paris of a North Atlantic Steamship Conference, I learn that several important decisions were arrived at. The Conference concluded that the rates for first and second class travel on Atlantic steamships could not stand any further increases, so that none have been ordered. Certain of the large ships on the Atlantic route, it is declared, have never been full in any of their trips from Europe to America and vice versa. From now on the round trip reductions from Europe to America and back will be made, in order to meet similar reductions on round trips from the other side. The regular third-class immigrant rate has been raised in French ports from 2,000 francs to 2,250 francs, in order to meet the fall in the value of the franc. Another important increase was authorised in the student class, the fares in this section being increased three to four pounds above the present immigrant rate. Better accommodation in the sections of the third class for students have been installed by the companies as compared with the immigrant passenger accommodation.

NEW BRITISH AERODROME.

The buildings and 179 acres of land at Castle Bromwich, where the British Industries Fair has been held, are to be acquired by the Air Ministry for £60,000. The spot is to be employed by the Government as an aerodrome. Two air defence squadrons are to be installed there and extensive alterations are to be made, including the construction of hangars and staff accommodation. During the war the site was an Air Force training centre and repair depot.

NO HOPE FOR CREW OF THE M 1.

NOT LOCATED.

STATEMENT BY THE ADMIRALTY.

KING'S MESSAGE.

There seems to be little hope that the four officers and 64 men, who went down in the submarine cruiser M 1 off the coast of Devonshire on Thursday, will be saved.

A series of contradictory messages from the ports on the South Coast of England were circulated yesterday, suggesting that the missing submarine had been located, but last evening the Admiralty issued the following statement:—

Every effort is being made to locate the position of the M 1 by sweeping and searching the area to the southward of Start Point. Owing to the number of wrecks and the depth of water in the neighbourhood, and the absence of any indication, such as oil or air bubbles, it is anticipated that considerable difficulty will be experienced before any success is obtained. Up to the present the Admiralty have not received any intelligence which enables them to give credence to the fact that the submarine has been located. As soon as such evidence is forthcoming the Admiralty will issue a further statement.

Rescue operations are to be continued to-day, but it is stated that all possibility of bringing up any of the crew alive is regarded as hopeless, and a Memorial Service has been arranged for to-morrow at Dockyard Church, at Portland.

"Nothing but a miracle could enable the crew to be submerged for so long without losing their lives," said a naval expert yesterday, who added that the possibility of rescue was rendered virtually impossible by reason of the depth of the water at the spot where the submarine disappeared. It is thought that the resting place of the M 1 is, at least, 38 fathoms, and 25 fathoms is the greatest depth at which divers can work effectively.

MESSAGES FROM THE KING AND PRINCE OF WALES.

The Queen and I are shocked and distressed to hear of the terrible loss of life owing to the disaster which has befallen submarine M 1. Please tell the bereaved families how very deeply we feel for them in their sudden and grievous sorrow.

George, R.I.

I am deeply sorry to hear of the disaster to the M 1. Please convey my most sincere sympathy to all concerned, and particularly to the relatives of the crew.

Edward, P.

An inquiry into the loss of the M 1 was opened aboard H.M.S. Resolution yesterday, and has not yet been concluded. The proceedings are private, and a report will be submitted to the Admiralty.

The view of Rear-Admiral Haggard is that if any of the crew of M 1 were alive some sound would have been heard from the submarine. He added that he could hold out no hope that any of the men were alive, but sweeping operations would be continued. He could give no reason for the disaster, as the boat was seaworthy, and belonged to a popular class.

During the whole of Thursday night and yesterday a fleet of destroyers and other boats were engaged in searching the waters within a wide radius of Start Point.

A FRENCH ACCIDENT.

TOULON, Friday.

Whilst electric accumulators were being charged in the submarine Nereide in Toulon Dockyard, a fire was caused by a gas explosion. Two quartermasters lost their lives.—(Reuter.)

THE ROAD FUND.

TREASURY'S PROPOSAL.

It is understood that the Cabinet Committee on Economy has endorsed the Treasury's proposal to divert part of the Road Fund from its normal purposes in order to help the Chancellor of the Exchequer to balance his Budget.

It will probably be found that the amount which it is proposed to divert from expenditure on the roads will be several million pounds. The Government is under a promise to receive deputations of local authorities before a final decision is made, but the date has not yet been fixed.

FIERCE "RAG" IN MANCHESTER.

ATTACKERS REPELLED WITH HOSE PIPES.

Wild scenes at Manchester yesterday, ending in a battle between 500 students of Manchester University and Manchester College of Technology and police, resulted in the arrest of ten of the students.

A fierce "rag" was commenced in the afternoon by 200 University students, armed with crowbars and short sticks. They opened an attack on the College with stink bombs, rotten eggs, tomatoes and stones, five leaded windows at the front of the College being smashed. The defenders brought hose pipes into play, and most of the attackers were drenched to the skin by streams of water. Twelve police officers despatched to the "battle" front were powerless against the mob of struggling students. Many had their clothes damaged by yellow ochre, sawdust and soot, and several received nasty kicks about the legs and ankles.

When the seriousness of the situation was realised, the police headquarters called on every available officer, even those off duty who attended the station to receive their pay.

After the arrests the excitement simmered down, but water was still pouring down the staircase of the College.

The affair was a sequel to a raid on the College last week, when Lord Eustace Percy visited Manchester. It is regarded as more serious than an ordinary "rag," and the official view is that strong measures will be taken in the future. The arrested students were released later. The Chief Constable is considering the question of proceedings.

THE COTTON INDUSTRY.

PROPOSED REDUCTION IN WORKING HOURS.

150,000 operators are affected by the decision of the Cotton (Short Time) Organisation Committee to recommend a further reduction in working hours in the American yarn-spinning section. It came as a big surprise when, at a special meeting in Manchester yesterday, the Committee advised members to revert to the 35 hours weekly, as compared to the present 39½ and the normal 58 hours.

The proposed reduction will apply only to the months of December and January, and members are to ballot on the recommendation.

THREE MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION.

MONTREAL, Friday.

LATE NEWS.

BRITISH DYESTUFFS

THE FUTURE OF THE COMPANY.

The Times in a leading article says:—After a week of conflicting rumours the directors of the British Dyestuffs Corporation have published particulars of a scheme of reconstruction which will be considered by the shareholders on November 25th. The British Dyestuffs Corporation has found its difficulties intensified by its association with the Government. Indeed, if one thing stands out more clearly than another in its chequered career it is the fact that the restrictive influence of political control over its commercial activities has proved disastrous, so that at last the Board has been compelled to negotiate for the removal of the handicap of Government interference by buying the Government holding. Agreement has now been reached on the basis that the Government is to receive £600,000 for its shares, the company agreeing not to alter the stipulation that not more than twenty-five per cent. of its shares may be held by foreigners, and that in all matters of technical information and research it will keep in touch with the Government.

The conclusion of this agreement has been made the occasion for a reconstruction scheme. If the shareholders adopt it the enterprise will make a fresh start on a basis that certainly holds out better prospects of commercial success than that on which it has hitherto been working. But it must not be supposed that the acceptance of the proposal means that all the difficulties that confront the Board have been overcome. The company will still have to fight with well-equipped competitors for its share of the home trade, while abroad it has to face the competition of established enterprises in Germany, the United States, France, and other countries. Its success will depend to a very large degree upon the adoption of a sound business policy, good management, technical skill, loyal service, and efficient salesmanship.

THE SITUATION IN ITALY.

SIGNOR MUSSOLINI'S EXPERIMENT.

In a leading article The Times says:—The Italian Government is to be congratulated on the success of the negotiations in Washington for the funding of the Italian debt to the United States. The happy result of the negotiations in Washington is particularly gratifying in view of the present situation in Italy, which is bound to arouse perplexity and a certain anxiety among the friends of that country. The facts as to the reported preparation for an attempt on the life of Signor Mussolini are the subject of judicial inquiry, and the time has not yet come to comment upon them fully. It need only be said that the success of any such preparations would have meant disaster. The disappearance of Signor Mussolini at this moment could have had but one result—the outbreak of fierce civil war in Italy, with consequences that no one inside or outside the country could possibly foresee.

At times we have found it necessary—with great respect for Signor Mussolini's declared national purpose, and with constant interest in his bold experiment—to criticise some of the methods to which his followers have committed themselves in outbursts of unreasoning ardour. It has seemed on occasion that the ultimate aim—the restoration of a strong, vigorous and united Italy—was not always being served by some of the more enthusiastic Fascisti, who were in danger of provoking grave national disunion by their precipitancy and their violence. On the whole, the experiment of Signor Mussolini has been regarded with a very open mind. The fact that by a remarkable demonstration of organised national purpose he liberated Italy from a state of utter confusion has always been counted as an asset in his favour. He, himself—with his courage and his amazing energy—is an obvious asset to his country. He is identified with Italy, and it is his personality that lends exceptional interest to the experiment that he is now conducting.

ABOLITION OF THE SUBMARINE.

SUGGESTION BY LLOYDS.

Mr. Percy G. Mackinnon, Chairman of Lloyds, in a letter to The Times, writes:—The appalling disaster recorded by you today, by which it is feared 68 brave men have lost their lives, must turn the thoughts of every humane man and woman to the question of our responsibility, for this awful human sacrifice. The cables which reach Lloyds at every hour of the day and night remind us that the unescapable perils of the sea are formidable enough. But here we have an ingenious contrivance by which nations seek mutual destruction in time of war, but which deals out death in time of peace. All the great maritime nations have suffered heart-breaking losses by this deadly machine, which treacherously destroys those in charge of it, and, it is feared, inflicts slow torture as well as death.

At this epoch, when the Pact of Locarno seems to offer the chance of European security, would it not be opportune to revive the proposal made at the Washington Conference for the abolition of this deadly instrument of destruction? It is not usual for business men to obtrude their advice in matters of high policy, but it is felt that this is an occasion when an institution whose work for centuries has related to the sea, and which has frequently raised funds in order to mitigate disaster, might now make its voice heard in an appeal to stop the use of a type of war machine which brings about the disasters of war in a time of profound peace.

PRINCE HENRY'S "CALL" TO THE BAR.

The Times announces that Prince Henry has accepted an invitation to become Master of the Bench of Gray's Inn. His Royal Highness will be called to the Bar by the Treasurer, Sir Alexander Wood Renton, and the Master of the Bench, in the Hall of the Society on Tuesday, November 24th, and later in the evening will be called to the Bench.

BLOODHOUNDS SEARCH FOR ESCAPED PRISONER.

The Daily Express Worthing Correspondent says:—Policemen with six bloodhounds are searching a wide area of the Downs for a man who escaped from custody yesterday afternoon while being taken by train to Portsmouth Jail from Horsham, where he had been sentenced to four months' imprisonment for the theft of a bicycle.

"GRAFT" IN MOSCOW.

EIGHTY ARRESTS MADE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
From Our Own Correspondent.
RIGA.

Eighty contractors, private businessmen, engineers, technicians, book-keepers, and other building employés, have just been arrested by the Moscow "Gay Pagoo"—Department of Justice—on charges of "graft" in connection with Moscow's building administration. The increasing prosperity of Russia has brought in its train a considerable increase in "graft," especially in municipal enterprises, which have hitherto been subjected to less vigilant inspection than the State organisation, in which great improvement has been noticeable.

The arrested contractors are accused of bribery. They reply that it is impossible to obtain a contract without "sweetening" the municipal employers, while the latter announce naively that "they were always offering us money, so we took it."

THREE SKIPPERS FINED AT GALWAY.

Fines totalling £350 were imposed by District Justice Sean Ford at Aran District Court on Wednesday on the skippers of three steam trawlers which had been found within the prohibited area. The trawlers were the s.s. Keyes, the ss. Phineas Beard, and the s.s. Caldy.

The skipper of the Keyes—Captain Setterfield—was also prosecuted for having been found within the prohibited area at night without lights, and for this offence he was fined an additional £50

FREE STATE TRADE.

LIVE STOCK EXPORTS DOWN £4,000,000.

14¼ MILLIONS ADVERSE BALANCE.

FIGURES FOR EIGHT MONTHS.

Official trade statistics of the Free State, compiled to the end of August, and showing the figures in comparison with those for the corresponding period of last year, present a gloomy picture of decreased total trade, and an increasing balance of trade against the Free State.

In particular, they show how hard the cattle trade has been hit this year.

Taking the eight months period, January-August, the following are the figures for exports of live animals (except horses) by value:—

	1925.	1924.
Cattle	£6,843,338	£9,065,231
Sheep	879,902	1,209,252
Pigs	261,232	718,137
Poultry	96,850	111,190
Other live animals	18,780	15,593
	£8,100,102	£12,019,403

The drop in the value of these exports accounts for about four-fifths of the decrease in total exports from the Free State in the eight months period.

The figures concerning horses have been omitted from the above table, because they include horses that were brought into the country temporarily. The position may be shown thus:—

HORSES.

	1925.	1924.
Exports	£1,090,565	£1,206,946
Imports	794,433	424,044
Excess of Exports	£296,132	£782,902

The number of horses exported in 1925 was 12,549, against 16,482 in 1924—a fall of more than 4,000; whereas the number imported in 1925 was 2,073, or 140 more than in 1924. The inclusion of a few valuable horses brought into the country thus disturbs the value figures; but the big decrease in numbers exported seems to show that the horse-breeding industry is suffering this year along with the cattle-porducing industry.

In August alone the number of cattle exported was 52,426, as compared with 83,835 in August, 1924. The value of cattle exported in August was £1,035,241, as compared with £1,592,868 in August, 1924—a drop of more than £550,000 on the month. Sheep exports were £80,000 down on the month.

BACON AND BUTTER.

On the eight months, bacon exports are down £150,000 and butter £550,000; but fish is up by £100,000, and eggs, cream, and condensed milk exports are increased.

Taking the bulk figures for all commodities, the figures for the eight months may be arranged as follows:—

Exports	£25,079,317
Re-exports	727,371
	£25,806,688

The corresponding total for the eight months of 1924 was £31,034,834.

The following comparisons are thus afforded:—

	1925.	1924.
Imports	£40,063,065	£43,782,550
Exports and Re-exports	25,806,688	31,034,834
Adverse Balance	£14,256,377	£12,747,716

An increase in the eight months as compared with 1924 of £130,000 in exports to "other countries" is a small item beside the decrease of nearly £5,000,000 in exports to Great Britain. The figures are as follows:—

	Imports.	Exports.
Great Britain—
1925	£28,233,050	£20,644,123
1924	30,359,157	25,437,341
Northern Ireland—
1925	4,507,829	3,767,989
1924	5,083,393	4,242,543
Other Countries—
1925	7,322,186	647,195
1924	8,340,000	513,245

The principal increase in exports to any single "other country" is that from £15,531 to £41,075 in the case of Germany.

ULSTER SHOW PRIZE SCHEDULES.

ROUGH TREATMENT OF CATTLE.

Mr. J. Milne Barbour, M.P., presided at a meeting of the Council of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society, held in the Belfast Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The prize schedules for the 1926 Spring Show and Sale and for the annual Show were adopted. Prizes in each of the classes for Aberdeen-Angus bulls at the annual Show and Sale were increased to £15. Various other increases in the value of prizes were approved.

A resolution was passed, on the motion of Mr. R. D. Best, seconded by Mr. R. Newton, viewing with grave apprehension the outlook for the Irish cattle industry, especially in consequence of the rough treatment which cattle receive in transit, and expressing the opinion that it was absolutely necessary that steps should be taken by the several local authorities in Ulster, with the co-operation of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, to prevent ill-treatment of cattle by drovers; further, that accommodation similar to that provided for the transport of cattle from Canada should be provided on cross-Channel steamers, namely, a separate, padded stall for each animal.

Copies of the resolution were ordered to be sent to the Imperial Secretary, the railway and shipping companies concerned, and the Ministry of Agriculture for Northern Ireland.

MENTAL PATIENTS' ESCAPE.

Two male patients at Donegal Mental Hospital, who escaped on Wednesday when put to work on the farm beyond the boundary walls, were re-captured yesterday at Falcarragh, forty miles away.

ARAB REBELS IN HASBEYA.

FLIGHT OF THE INHABITANTS.

From "The Times" Correspondent.

HAIFA, Thursday.

Fifteen hundred rebels, of whom five hundred are mounted, under Zeid el Atrash, entered Hasbeya after midnight on Monday. Refugees who have arrived at Beirut report that the rebels have hoisted the Arab flag, at the same time reassuring the Christians by proclaiming that their action was taken solely against the military forces. A great many of the inhabitants left, as they feared that the city might become a battle zone during efforts on the part of the authorities to dislodge the rebels.

It is reported that a big meeting was held lately, attended by the leading chiefs of the tribes of the Jaulan, to confer on the present situation. Four hundred horsemen assembled, and summoned the Emir Faour and the Circassian notables to join them or remain neutral. The Emir Faour who failed to persuade them not to attack urged that, in any case, they should not harm Christians.

INJURED WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

INCREASE FAVOURED BY JUDGE DROMGOOLE.

Judge Dromgoole gave evidence at yesterday's meeting of the Departmental Committee set up to inquire into the question of workmen's compensation, basing his statements on his experience on the Bench in cases which had come into the court.

He said that he was of the opinion that the present limit of £250 fixed by the Acts should be increased, because when they got down to their present financial position they found that the value of money had gone. He took it that in any recommendations made the Committee would do away with the war additions. That would involve raising the amount in some kind of proportion to the increased cost of living and the present value of money. If he had been asked without any knowledge of the figure fixed by the new English Act, he would have suggested 35s. as the maximum figure for weekly compensation instead of the present figure of £1.

Answering Mr. Mortished, Judge Dromgoole said that he could not say whether any reasonable case had been made for increasing the weekly payment to half or two-thirds wages, but it appeared to him a great misfortune that when a man met with an accident his income should be reduced perhaps by more than half. There should be some stimulus to make a man anxious to return to work. He also thought that in addition to compensation an injured worker should get medical or surgical treatment.

On the question of payment of compensation to widows he thought that the method of payment should be left as much as possible to the discretion of the court.

DOCTOR PROTESTS.

HOSPITAL ESTIMATES "CUT" BY COUNTY COUNCIL.

At a meeting of the Joint Committee of the Carlow Mental Hospital on Thursday, the Resident Medical Superintendent (Dr. Green) reported that, as a result of the action of the County Council in reducing his estimates for 1924-5 and for the present financial year, they were in such a position that there was a danger of their treasurer not honouring the committee's paying orders. Even the provision for their share of the maintenance of patients had been cut down. His 1924-5 estimate had been reduced by £3,195, but this amount had since been paid to the committee. The Council had reduced the estimate for the present year by £2,500, and now owed the committee £942.

Canon Mackey—Are they legally bound to pay?

Dr. Green—They are. It should not be necessary to take legal proceedings against a body with representatives on this committee.

When a resolution was read from the County Council, asking the Hospital Committee to furnish detailed information under the various headings of expenditure on the hospital, Dr. Green declared that he was there to take orders from the Hospital Committee, not from the County Council.

The Committee decided to request the doctor to supply information as to the expenditure, including wages of attendants, and the cost of maintenance, etc.

ANTRIM BANKRUPTCY CASE

FARMER WHO IS A ROAD CONTRACTOR.

In the Bankruptcy Court, Belfast, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Brown, the matter of J. Clyde, a farmer, a bankrupt, Elgany, Co. Antrim, was listed for first public sitting.

Mr. J. Boston, solicitor for the petitioning creditor, examined the bankrupt, who stated that he had given a bill of sale to a Mr. Pettigrew. This bill of sale covered everything that he owned. A man called Turtle had obtained judgment against him for assault, but he denied that the bill of sale was given afterwards to evade paying up.

The bankrupt also stated that he had a road contract for the Antrim County Council for £1,000. He did not expect to make any money out of it. The contract was for twelve months, and he had six men engaged.

His Lordship adjourned the matter. Mr. R. C. Macauley appeared for the bankrupt.

MATER MISERICORDIÆ HOSPITAL, DUBLIN.

The annual Solemn Requiem Office and High Mass for the deceased benefactors of the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital was held in the Pro-Cathedral, Marlborough street, Dublin, yesterday. A large assemblage of the clergy and laity were present.

The Requiem Office was presided over by the Very Rev. Canon Kelly, P.P. The celebrant was the Rev. R. Concannon, chaplain, Mater Hospital, deacon, the Rev. C. Troy, M.A.; sub-deacon, the Rev. S. Dillon, C.C.; master of ceremonies, the Rev. A. Camac, C.C.; chanters, the Rev. J. Deery, C.C., and the Rev. F. Field, B.A.

There were sixty-one clergymen in the choir.

NEW RINGSEND CINEMA.

The new picture theatre, the Rinn Cinema, built at Ringsend by the Cities Cinemas, Ltd., was formally opened last night, when the first performance was given.

Mr. Doran, Chairman of the company, in declaring the theatre open, said that it was supplying a long-felt need in Ringsend, and that it would be fully appreciated by the inhabitants of the district.

Mr. Cathal M'Garvey and Miss Eileen Murnaghan took part in a short concert before the first picture was shown.

No expense has been spared in the furnishing and decoration of the Rinn Cinema, and it presents a very pleasing appearance both inside and outside. The most up-to-date ventilation and heating apparatus has been installed.

There was a very full "house" for the opening night.

DERRY HOUSING.

The Ministry of Finance has written to the Derry Corporation stating that they are prepared to consider favourably the application of the Corporation for a loan of £5,000 under the Small Dwellings Acquisition Acts.

TELEGRAPHING PICTURES.

INSTANTANEOUS TRANSMISSION.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BERLIN.

In a few weeks it will be possible to telegraph pictures, photographs and documents from continent to continent, and from Berlin to London, London and Berlin to New York, according to Count Asco and other directors of Germany's Wireless Company, "Telefunken," thanks to the invention of Dr. Karolus, of Leipzig.

This invention, called the "telefunken apparatus," makes possible the instantaneous transmission of pictures, and will eliminate the old slow method. A hundred thousand vibrations per second of the electric current in a light cell, produced by the Karolus transmitter, make telegraphic photography possible.

THE PROCESS.

The picture to be telegraphed will be placed under a cylinder perforated with microscopic holes. This revolves in the transmitter. A strong light filtered through a lens is projected on the picture through every perforation in the cylinder. The light is reflected from the pictures—a strong light from the white spaces and a blurred light from the script or lines.

These reflections, differing in brightness, fall upon a "light cell," which corresponds to the microphone in broadcasting stations. The light cell vibrates according to the light intensities. This takes the place of the membrane in the microphone and transforms the light rays into an electric current.

The construction of the light cell is the most important secret of this new method of transmitting pictures.

THE RECEIVING SET.

The receiving set is built with a similar idea. A strong ray of light is projected through the Karolus machine. The plates' condensator receives the ray of light, and the electricity is influenced by the light from the transmitter.

Experiments with the new method have been carried on between Leipzig and Dresden and between Leipzig and Berlin. Experts here assert that they have been successful.

A CONTRAST IN FREIGHT RATES.

THE LORRY IN COMPETITION WITH THE RAILWAYS.

With a view to removing the difficulties under which the railways are being worked in competition with lorry traffic, Mr. J. Byrne moved a resolution at the quarterly meeting of the Queen's Co. County Council calling for the establishment of a Ministry of Transport to control all the traffic of the country, the proposed Ministry to be responsible for the upkeep of all main trunk roads.

Mr. J. Finlay seconded. The Great Southern Railway, he said, were paying one-fourth of the taxes of the county at-large, and it was up to the Council to support the railway. If he had a hand in it he would make the motor lorries pay a tariff that would keep the roads.

Mr. D. Kennedy said that it was most unfair to divert the traffic of the railways on to the roads. He could not agree to the appointment of a second Ministry.

Mr. Byrne said that he did not exactly mean that, but that the work should be given to the railway, in which a lot of poor people, convents and clergymen, and others, had money invested, and who were looking to the railway for their income. If the motor traffic was in other districts where there was no railway he could understand it. Then the motors would be feeding the railway and the railway would be feeding the motors.

Mr. W. H. M. Cobbe, while sympathising with the object of the resolution, said that he had a strong objection to the setting up of another Ministry, which would probably represent a cost of £20,000 a year.

Mr. E. F. C. Mercier said that he had a good deal of business to do with the railways during the past three months, and he would give some cases in point. He put a proposal before the railway company to accept a consignment of 1,000 tons of barley from Attanagh Station to a town which was only 30 miles away. The rate the company asked was 15s. 3d. per ton. He got a lorry quotation at 10s. per ton. He put that before the railway company and asked them would they even do it at 11s. 3d. a ton. They would not do it. They lost the traffic and it went by road.

On Saturday last he got an order to send stuff by rail from Attanagh to Cahirciveen. The railway company wanted 31s. 2d. a ton at owner's risk. That stuff could be got from America at 5s. a ton by the boat at the present time. On a consignment of 150 tons of barley from Monasterevan Station the railway company charged him a rate of 9s. 4d. a ton. When he explained to them that he himself could only be given 8s. a ton they met him by allowing him 8d. out of every 1s. 4d. that he lost.

LORRY OWNERS' ATTITUDE.

How, Mr. Mercier asked, could any sane man ask them to support the railway company in face of their throwing their business away time after time, and when they charged from Ballybrophy Station on oats to North Wall a rate of 18s. 10d. a ton, while the rate from Maryborough was only 13s. 8d.? That meant that the unfortunate farmer at or near Ballybrophy Station had to take 6d. a barrel less for his produce than he would be given at Maryborough, a few miles away.

Half the barley in his district he declared, would be left rotting were it not for the lorries that were able to take it from Cullohill and Johnstown.

As a lorry-owner, he (Mr. Mercier) could say that the lorry-owners were prepared to pay a fair tax; they would be prepared to give another £25 extra tax if they got roads that were safe for their lorries to go over.

Mr. Tynan said that if they took what the motor-owners were paying in motor taxes, they were probably paying more for the upkeep of the roads than the farmers were.

Mr. Kennedy said that it was right to have competition with the railways, because the cost of freight was discouraging to trade.

Mr. Hipwell said that it was unfair to ask the farmers, who used the by-roads, to maintain the main roads for motors.

A direct negative proposed by Mr. Cobbe was not seconded, but, after further discussion, Mr. Byrne withdrew his motion.

ORGAN RECITAL AT DONORE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The attendance at Donore Presbyterian Church, Dublin, last evening was not so large as might have been expected, when an organ recital was given by Dr. George H. P. Hewson, organist of St. Patrick's Cathedral. The few who did attend were treated to a programme as varied as its rendering was characteristic of Dr. Hewson's style. It was modern for the most part, but included the Bach Fugue in C minor and Weber's "Euryanthe" Overture. There were two items of more than ordinary interest—a Barcarolle by Bennett and a quaint and beautiful Finnish lullaby by Palmgren. The former was Dr. Hewson's own transcription. The recital showed the possibilities of even a small organ when touched by the hand of a master.

BELFAST PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

At the second philharmonic Concert, held in Belfast last night, the Governor of Northern Ireland was present. "In glorious freedom," by Alexander Brent Smith, was sung, and was enthusiastically received. Orlando Gibbons's anthem, "Hosanna to the Son of David," was also given, this being the tercentenary of his death.

IRISH IN THE SCHOOLS.

rather say that he was prepared to take Denmark as an inspiration. The general characteristic that he found in the educational system of Denmark was that it was intensely national. His instincts and experience as an Irishman told him that the right line for any person responsible for education in Ireland at present, having regard to the economic future and its economic development, would be to make Irish education intensely national. He stood by that. It was the keynote of his educational policy, and he could not be associated with any policy that was not dominated and vivified by that principle. He would very much prefer if any other policy were instituted in this country not to be associated with it at all. The State plan of education to which his Department had succeeded had no such aim, policy or spirit, but an aim, policy and spirit which were exactly contrary.

TWO ILLUSTRATIONS.

To illustrate his point, Mr. MacNeill gave two illustrations of the results which followed the setting up of the national education scheme nearly a century ago. One of these referred to the district around Westport, in County Mayo. There were 35,000 linen workers engaged in the linen industry. If they wanted to see what the national system of education had done for these people they had only to see the ruined remains of the linen workshops on the quays of Westport to-day. In the district in which he was born, Glenariff, County Antrim, the people were Irish-speaking, and to-day there could be found only a few old people who spoke the language. The school there did nothing except provide people with a freer means to leave and establish themselves elsewhere.

His policy, he continued, was to reverse all that. He wanted to interest the teachers of Ireland and the youth of Ireland in all that belonged to the life of the community. He wanted to interest them in their economic and civic life, and to do it in a more thorough and more penetrating way than by sticking either rural science or civics into the programme as a subject. His policy was founded upon faith and confidence in the future of this country and nation; in its capacity for development, for repairing the injuries—the injuries of every kind, cultural economic, civic and political—that it had suffered in the past century since the system of so-alled National education was established. It was upon that policy, and not upon administrative details, that he asked them to pass judgment. He did not want to evade any issue: neither did he wish to allow the real issue to be clouded. If Deputies desired to have a diverse pronouncement upon any portion of the administrative work of his Department the course of procedure would give them an opportunity of doing so.

CRITICISM RESENTED.

He claimed that he had given a fair and clear indication of the aims and policy of his Department, of himself and of the Government; and that he had also indicated the lines upon which that policy was to be carried into effect, and was, as a matter of fact, at the present moment being carried into effect.

He resented and repudiated criticisms which carried the implication that because of his absence upon other business, his Department was not working progressively and successfully. He had to be absent upon an occupation for which, as far as he was aware, he had no competitors. He had not heard of a single man or woman in Ireland that had asked for that burden.

Mr. Johnson—The job was not advertised. (Laughter.)

Mr. MacNeill said that, although during the last two years he had long absences from his Department, he had never had a holiday for himself. There was never a day during those absences that he was not in contact with his office.

THE STANDARD OF LIVING.

The Minister, repeating that he wished to have a vote clearly and definitely on his policy, as stated by him in the debate, said that he did not see what it had to do with the motion when Deputy Johnson suggested that the Government in general, and him (the Minister) in particular, were engaged in some sort of subtle conspiracy to lower the standard of living for workingmen in Ireland.

Mr. Johnson—You have admitted it.

Mr. MacNeill—If that is the sort of statement that is going to justify a vote against this resolution the public will know how to size it up. A good many workingmen about Dublin and other parts of the country know me as well as they know Deptuy Johnson, and I do not think that Deputy Johnson will convince them that I, or the Minister for Industry and Commerce, are engaged in any plan to lower the standard of living for them or any other workmen of this country.

It had been said, and repeated during the debate, he continued, that he had said he was not a believer in compulsion. He had not said, or meant to convey, anything of the kind. He did mean to say that there was a distinct danger in carrying the long arm of the State into every street and house and townland in the country, and that it ought to be avoided if possible. When one trained people to rely on a centralised Government to do this and that for them, one produced more and more a disposition among individual citizens and local communities to do less and less for themselves and to depend on the central action of the State. According to his philosophy, that was a most unhealthy state of things. (Hear, hear.)

THE IRISH LANGUAGE.

In the educational policy that he had placed before them the Irish language was an important element. He had heard a lot about the effects of the teaching of Irish, and it was wonderful to him how rapidly those effects came round. (Laughter.) Mr. Good had spoken of a lowering of the standard of education in the past twenty years. He was glad to know that that depreciation had preceded by at least eighteen years any steps taken by the present Department of Education. They had read in a newspaper article that the study of Irish had been responsible for the falling off in the study of Greek and of modern languages. If that were so, it was an instance of the most remarkable intelligent anticipation on the part of schoolmasters in his experience. It was well known that the study of Greek had fallen off, not only in the Free State, but in Northern Ireland and in Great Britain, where there was no compulsory Irish at all. The same applied to the charges regarding the teaching and learning of modern languages.

With regard to the alleged lowering of the standard generally, he had been assured in the past few weeks by the principal of a very important and successful secondary school that never in his experience, covering about twenty years, had he got so good a quality of pupil coming up from the primary schools as in the past year. They were not only more proficient in the Irish language, but more proficient all round.

"ARTIFICIAL DISSATISFACTION."

"I cannot conceal from myself," the Minister went on, "that this propaganda is part of a movement in existence to create artificial dissatisfaction with these programmes on the ground of the study of Irish. I have had instances of it in the course of this discussion: not that I accuse any deputy here of being engaged in it. It is very active, and I can produce the proofs of it outside."

With regard to the teaching of infants through Irish, the Minister said that the note at the head of the programme said that the work of the infants' school was to be conducted entirely in Irish, but the circular issued to inspectors had qualifying notes saying that it was recognised that that would not be feasible entirely in a large number of schools at present, and that discretion must be allowed to the teacher, who should not be urged to teach in Irish if not confident of his capacity to do so.

Mr. Johnson—Is the condition of the children's mentality in respect to Irish taken into account? Have the children to be able to understand or receive the instruction in Irish?

Dr. MacNeill—Undoubtedly the capacity and mentality of the children is to be taken into account. That is not only stated, but I do not think that there is a single inspector who would not understand it. Although it was difficult to test the matter, he was inclined to think that the standard reached in the primary schools was as high as ever it was.

UNIVERSITY STANDARDS.

With reference to Deputy Mulcahy's question whether he was satisfied with University standards as they existed, the Minister replied that he was not satisfied, and he thought that it ought to be a matter for the most earnest consideration of all who were interested in education as to how far the great work of University education was being wasted in various particulars, and how far they were relying rather on the number of students who resorted to the Universities than on the quality of the students. He hoped that statement would lead to valuable inquiry and concentration on the matter.

If he thought that the members of the Dail desired that he should at that stage deal with such matters as the amalgamation of schools, school buildings, and such subjects, he was prepared to do so. Those aspects of education did not, however, belong in any distinctive way to policy as a whole, and they could be discussed when they came to deal with the estimates in detail. At that stage he asked that the Dail should give a pronouncement on the general aim and the policy that he had put before them, and the general educational framework associated with that aim, in order to carry it into effect.

Mr. Johnson interrupted to say that the word "policy" in the motion should be substituted by the word "purpose." He was prepared to vote against the policy, while he would vote for the aims and purposes as outlined by the Minister.

Dr. MacNeill said that the word policy in the motion carried the definite significance and meaning generally attached to it by the public, and by that he wished to stand.

At this point the Dail adjourned to Tuesday next, when Dr. MacNeill will finish his reply.

Canon Greer said that the school was carried on on the lines of a home, and the more one knew of its work the more highly one thought of it. Lady FitzGerald Arnott, in declaring the sale open, said that it gave her much pleasure to help in forwarding so deserving a cause. The report of the school spoke for itself. The work undertaken by the Bethesda School claimed the sympathy and support of all, and should, as heretofore, receive a generous recognition. The principal stallholders were Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Arthur Bellingham, Mrs. Ion Grove White, Miss R. Mahaffy, Miss Webber, Mrs. Phillpots, and Mrs. Croly.

Christopher Waldron (24), 41 James's street, was admitted to Jervis street Hospital, Dublin, yesterday afternoon, suffering from injuries received by being struck with a coal truck at Spencer Dock.

LEINSTER

Threatened by Armed Men.—The Civic Guards in South Meath are investigating a case of intimidation, the victim of which is John Boylan, of Moyfeigher, Ballivor. This man has recently become the tenant of a house there, and at a late hour at night he was visited by two men, who were armed with a shot gun, and having wakened him told him that if he did not leave the house he would lose his life. They then fired two shots. The house concerned was the subject of litigation at recent courts in Trim.

In Praise of the Bicycle.—At the inaugural lecture of Wexford Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Society, the Rev. Canon Lyster, Enniscorthy, in his address on the pleasures of cycling, stated that he commenced cycling on the wooden machine, rode the high wheeler and all the subsequent makes to the modern type. He went on cycling tours in France, Brittany, England and other countries, travelling by bicycle 73,000 miles.

Border Defence.—Charged at Mullingar District Sessions yesterday with having 33 sporting cartridges in his possession without a licence, David Norman Smith, an official of the Bank of Ireland, Mullingar, was fined £3. The defence was that the defendant was awaiting the arrival of a gun, which his father was sending from Armagh, but there was a difficulty in getting it over the border. Defendant had spoken to Superintendent Walsh about getting a licence.

Pike Fishing in Meath.—At the Navan District Sessions Court the Conservators of Fisheries summoned Albert Lowry (jun.), Bachelor's Lodge, and Percy Toppin, Ellerslie, Shankill road, Dublin, for fishing on the 29th August last at Donaghpatrick, in the Blackwater, a tributary of the Boyne, for salmon, with a single rod and line, not having a licence to do so. Mr. Toppin said that he only got the summons since he came into the Court, but he was prepared to meet the case. He claimed to be a sportsman, and he fished for pike for 75 years, and he hoped to fish a few years more. He came there as a guest of Mr. Lowry; he was very fond of pike fishing. This was a pike rod, and he did not think any salmon angler would say it was a salmon rod. He got a wire trace because the pike would bite the gut. Justice Goff suggested to the parties that if the costs were paid the Conservators would withdraw the summonses. Mr. A. Lowry, senior, agreed to act on the suggestion. Mr. Tallan, solicitor (for the Conservators), said that the costs would be £3 13s. "We look for support from men like Mr. Lowry and Mr. Toppin," he added. The cases were accordingly marked withdrawn.

Crime in Co. Louth.—At the opening of the Dundalk Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Doyle intimated that the criminal business was so heavy that it would probably last three days. There were eighteen jurors absent without cause. That was a thing which no judge could tolerate, and he would fine them pretty heavily.

MUNSTER.

Cork Robbery Charge.—At Carrigaline (Co. Cork) District Court, before Mr. P. O'Sullivan, David Strachan and Leslie Dunn, stated to be British soldiers, stationed at Templebeedy Fort, Crosshaven, were remanded on a charge of having broken into the fort canteen and stolen goods value £17 and 25s. in cash. Superintendent Dawson, who prosecuted, said that the accused had deserted on the night of the robbery, and had been arrested in Cork. He was awaiting instructions from his superiors.

Car Driver's Death from Exposure.—At the inquest, held at Kilmallock, touching the death of Patrick Nagle, car driver, a verdict was returned that death was due to collapse from exposure. The evidence went to show that the deceased, after a funeral, brought a mourning party in a carriage drawn by two horses, to Kilbreedy Manor. Some hours later the owner found him, with the animals and vehicle on the road convenient to where he left the party. Nagle refused to return to Kilmallock with the carriage, and between 6 and 7 o'clock the following morning he was found dead at the spot where seen the previous night.

Clonmel Boot Fund.—With a view to ensuring a better school attendance, the Clonmel Education Committee are endeavouring to start a boot fund to provide footwear for poor children. A public meeting in furtherance of the project will be held on Thursday next.

Rates Coming In.—Mr. F. McCarthy, rate collector, reported, at the meeting of the Skibbereen Urban Council, that he had collected and lodged £1,702 out of £1,813, bringing forward £65 17s.; irrecoverable £38 4s. 11d. Mr. T. Sheehy said that, perhaps, there was no urban town in Ireland which could show such a good collection, and this was due largely to the zeal of the collector.

Houses as Kennels.—At a meeting of the County Council Advisory Committee for Ballincollig electoral area, at the Cork Courthouse yesterday, Mr. P. J. Bradley complained that the houses in the Ballincollig Barracks, formerly occupied by soldiers, and on which rates were paid, were now used as kennels for dogs, and were of no use in respect of rates. It was a scandal to so use them, when unfortunate people in the district would be anxious to get such houses. He intended to deal with the matter in another place.

Fined for Intimidation.—At Limerick District Sessions yesterday John Shinners was fined 20s. and costs for intimidation. The evidence showed that on November 6th last he entered Ellen street timber yards and demanded that no further materials be supplied to Messrs. Siemens-Schuckert, Shannon contractors. He purported to be a member of the Strike Committee, and threatened to bring the employés of the firm out on strike. He warned Mr. McMahon, managing director, of the consequences if he had the pickets removed. The defence was that Shinners was excited on the occasion.

Kerry Show Deficit.—At the meeting of the Kerry Agricultural Society, the Secretary (Mr. M. Griffin) stated that the total expenditure was £773 14s. 11d., and the total receipts £658 16s. 8d., showing a loss on the working of this year's show of £114 18s. 3d., whereas last year it was £310.

The Skibbereen Urban Council have decided not to let the Town Hall for dances, except by special resolution of the Council.

CONNAUGHT

Distress in the West.—It was reported by the Secretary at the last meeting of the County Galway Homes Committee at Loughrea that £6,685 was expended on home assistance in the County Galway during the previous six months, as compared with £1,707 10s. expended in the corresponding period in 1915. Mr. S. O'Connor, Co.C., said that the expenditure showed a tendency to go still higher owing to the distress prevailing in some of their towns.

Poor Law Evidence Criticised.—At a meeting of the Leitrim County Board of Health, the Secretary (Mr. E. Walsh) submitted statements from the ambulance drivers showing that no deaths occurred of patients in conveying them to the County Home and hospitals, and criticising a statement at the Poor Law Commission of Canon Masterson, P.P., V.F., Mohill.

Unemployment Increase.—There was an increase of 422 in the number of unemployed in Northern Ireland last week. The total unemployed on the 9th inst. was 57,407, of whom 35,328 were men, 20,159 women, 957 boys, and 963 girls.

Co. Down Tragedy.—The death has taken place in Bangor Hospital of Francis Coulter (25), 106 East street, Newtownards. He was admitted to the hospital on Saturday last suffering from injuries received in a char-à-banc accident at the Six Road Ends, and pneumonia supervened.

Plumber's Fate.—While Alex. Kirkpatrick, an aged plumber, was working at the bottom of a well shaft at Fineagh, Omagh, the sides of the well collapsed, and many tons of débris fell on the unfortunate man. Up to a late hour last night he had not been extricated.

Failed to Stamp Insurance Cards.—Matthew S. Macauley, motor proprietor, Aughnacloy, was, at Aughnacloy Petty Sessions on Thursday last, fined 9s., with £3 12s costs, and ordered to pay £9 6s. 2d. arrears in respect of the non-stamping of Health Insurance and Unemployment cards, in the case of Robert Jarvis, motor mechanic and driver, in his employment.

New Whitehead Minister.—At a meeting of the Commission of the Presbytery of Belfast, held yesterday, the Rev. W. J. Baird, B.A., presiding, a call from the congregation of Whitehead to the Rev. Robert Caldwell, B.A., was submitted by the Clerk. The call, which was unanimous, promised an annual stipend of £300, with increase, together with the required contribution to the Sustentation Fund and the use of the manse. The call was sustained and accepted by Mr. Caldwell, and he was furnished with credentials to the Presbytery of Carrickfergus.

Belfast Chemist's Affairs.—In the Northern Bankruptcy Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Brown, the matter of M. M'Donald, chemist, Donegall street, Belfast, was listed for audit. Mr. D. M'Gonigal (instructed by Mr. T. E. Alexander) read the report of the Official Assignee (Major F. G. Hill, O.B.E.), which showed that there was a balance in hand of £114 18s. The offer of the bankrupt was one of 2s. in the £, the first payment being an instalment of 1s. in the £, in cash, the second being secured by bills. Four of the preference creditors had not been paid. The debts proved and admitted amounted to £2,639 2s. 8d., of which £931 9s. 5d. had been waived. The judge passed the audit.

Woman Bankrupt.—Miss Annie Wilson, a bankrupt, who had carried on business as a milliner at New Row, Coleraine, appeared for examination in the Northern Bankruptcy Court yesterday. Mr. A. F. Porter, who appeared for London creditors, examined the bankrupt, who stated that she had obtained goods to the value of £2,000. Witness could not say how much was left, and her assets were estimated at £230. Her brother helped her in the business, and witness allowed him to help himself out of the till as he wanted. He also ordered the goods for the shop. Mr. D. M'Gonigal, for the bankrupt, stated that Miss Wilson had filed her schedule that morning. Mr. Justice Brown adjourned the matter to enable the schedule to be investigated.

Girl Given a Chance.—At Dundalk Circuit Court, Lizzie Balmer (15), from Whitestown, was charged with having stolen five dresses, the property of Lilian Carryford, the proprietress of a theatrical show. The defence was that the dresses had been given the girl by the owner, as they were of no use, and in return for looking after her children while she was in the district. The jury found the girl guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. Judge Doyle said that it was obvious she had been captivated by the finery of the costumes and had stolen them. He wanted to give her every chance, and would not send her to jail, but would allow her out on bail, advising her in future not to be enamoured of either theatricals or theatrical costumes.

Given Ten Days to Pay.—William Downes, High street, Tullamore, was, at Tullamore Court yesterday, fined £7 for failing to refund £5 17s. 4d., drawn by him under the Insurance Act in unemployment benefit by false representation. Mr. Ennis (for Mr. Rogers, State Solicitor) said that the case against the defendant was heard and adjourned, he having promised to pay the money, but he had not done so. The Justice said that he would give him ten days to pay the money, and, in default of payment, two months' imprisonment

Clara ex-Service men were present at Mass in St. Brigid's Church yesterday. A demonstration took place afterwards, at which a large contingent from Tullamore was present. Three bands co-operated in the ceremony.

DECLINE IN PIG PRODUCTION.

PROPOSED TAX ON FOREIGN BACON.

A conference of farmers, held at the Department of Agriculture's Offices, Merrion street, Dublin, yesterday suggested:—

(1) An import duty of 2d. per lb. on all foreign bacon, hams and lard, the revenue from the impost to be allocated in one thousand grants of £10 each to small farmers for the erection of piggeries and twenty-six grants of £500 each for the erection of bacon factories;

(2) The distribution of artificial manures to farmers on a credit basis.

Mr. J. J. Bergin, who presided, referred to the scheme for the purchase of artificial manures.

ARTIFICIAL MANURES.

CREDIT DISTRIBUTION SCHEME.

The Agricultural Council, or any other body, he said, representing Committees of Agriculture should be empowered to purchase sufficient quantities of artificial manures for distribution to farmers on a credit basis, the cost originally to be State guaranteed. The method of selling manures, he said, used to be on a credit basis, but since the slump in 1921 the manufacturers would not sell on credit, with the result that half the people had gone without manure. The scheme would assist the growers by securing manures at wholesale prices on the presentation of a bill of exchange, which must be backed by a neighbour, for the Local County Committee, which would purchase in the first instance.

The scheme was adopted.

Referring to the decline in the pig producing industry, he explained that in the scheme the Committee recommended an import duty of 2d. per lb. on all foreign bacon, hams, and lard. Portion of the revenue from this duty would be allocated in 1,000 grants of £10 each, to be made available for small farmers under £10 valuation, for the erection of piggeries; 26 grants of £500 to firms who proposed to erect bacon factories in counties where they did not exist. The grants would cost £23,000 in all, which should be only a fraction of revenue derivable from such duty.

THE BUYERS' RING.

Mr. Briscoe objected to any import duty on bacon. The cause of the decline of the Irish pig industry was the buyers' ring. Properly cured and marketed Irish bacon could still command a good price.

Mr. J. J. Walsh wrote regarding the suggested joint conference of the Grain Growers' Association and Tillage Committee of the Cumann na Gaedheal Party in the Dail. The proposals of the Tillage Committee, he said, had already been submitted to the Minister, and were being considered. The Tillage Committee had availed itself of the assistance of the Grain Conference, and they felt that any change in their proposals at this stage might not be advisable. He suggested as an alternative an informal conference between a deputation from the Grain Conference and the Tillage Committee at his office.

Mr. Richard Hipwell said that at the conference with Mr. J. J. Walsh on October 19th, it was agreed that samples of Irish barley should be available to be taken by Mr. Walsh and members of a deputation to London. As one of the deputation, he (Mr. Hipwell) went to Athy for barley samples, but was informed by the secretary of the deputation that the sending of the samples had been cancelled, as it was stated that no samples were available. He (Mr. Hipwell) had samples of barley, which he had to take back, and he took exception to the cancellation of the arrangement. He agreed with all that Mr. Walsh had said at the conference regarding barley prices, and was prepared to submit samples, as had been arranged.

BARLEY SAMPLES.

The Chairman said that he was present when the arrangement was made about the samples, and the letter which appeared in the Press was not as approved by the meeting. He also took exception to the statement that no samples of barley could be procured.

Mr Belton referred to the proposal of the East Anglia Agricultural Society to the Minister of Agriculture, to put an import duty of 5s. per cwt. on imported barley and malt into Great Britain. This, said Mr. Belton, was following on the lines suggested by the Grain Growers' Association at their conference. The Scottish Board of Agriculture had communicated with the Grain Growers' secretary through the Department of Agriculture, asking for copies of their recommendations on the subject.

THE PEAMOUNT DANCE.

The third annual Peamount dance, in aid of the funds of the Peamount Care Committee, will be held, under the presidency of Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, in Clery's Ballroom, on Friday, 20th November, from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. Few realise the benefits the patients in the sanatorium derive from this committee. Clothes are provided for the patients in need of them. The children are given special care, and are provided with boots, warm underclothing and dresses, both while in the sanatorium and on their discharge, and food orders are given. In many cases complete sets of bed clothing have been given. At Christmas the children receive both useful and ornamental presents. An annual Christmas tree and entertainment is given, and each patient receives a present, and the children get a special tea. Hallowe'en parties and Easter gifts are also given. Tickets, which are limited, may be obtained from Mrs. Costello, 20 Herbert Park; Mrs. Finlay, 43 Pembroke road; Mr. P. Cunniam, 25 Kenilworth Park.

DECREE FOR COST OF BURIAL.

A decree for the price of an oak coffin and the hire of a hearse—£13—was obtained by John Moran, undertaker, High street, Tullamore, at Ferbane Court on Thursday, against Joseph Seerey, Leemonaghan, Ballycumber, in connection with the burial of the defendant's brother, Patrick Seerey, of Bluebell, in September, 1922.

The plaintiff stated that the defendant came to him to order the coffin and hearse late at night. He refused at first to take the order, but agreed to do so when the defendant told him that he had been sent by Father O'Reilly. They had to stay up all night doing the work.

The defendant denied liability, and denied that it was he who ordered the coffin.

HOSPITAL'S TWO "RECORDS."

Although the number of patients in Mullingar Mental Hospital at present—1,090—was the largest ever recorded there, it was reported at a meeting of the Hospital Committee yesterday, that the death rate was only about 4 per cent. (also a "record"), compared with an average for other institutions in the Free State of 8, 9 and 11 per cent.

BIG BUYING OF RAILROADS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Friday.

Stocks opened strong. Motors were superseded as leaders, despite an initial show of strength in consequence of the declaration of an extra dividend by General Motors, and bullish operations converged on Railroads, Steels and Oil issues, with their buoyancy permeating the general list. The current and prospective business conditions are becoming steadily more favourable, as was evidenced by the great number of larger dividend distributions. Pool operations were resumed on a confident scale, and there was enormous buying of Standard Railroads, and in the late dealings Cleveland Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis jumped 22, Atlantic Coast Line and Pittsburg and West Virginia 12, Central of New Jersey 9, General Electric 11, and American Canadian, U.S. Cast Iron Pipe, Norfolk and Western United Drug, Mack Trucks and Ann Arbor Preferred 5 to 8 points. The market finished strong. Government Bonds firm; Railroad Bonds steady. The day's sales totalled 3,060,000 shares.

Money on call closed steady at 4½ per cent. bid and 4¾ per cent. asked. All business was transacted at 4½ per cent.. Sterling exchange irregular. Silver ½c. lower at 69½c.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Friday.

WHEAT opened firm, 1c. to ½c. up. The market was stimulated by bullish cable advices, export business, expected bullish weekly world's shipments, strength of outside markets, smaller interior receipts, active covering of December contracts, unfavourable Argentine reports, higher cash markets, and a bullish review by the Modern Miller. Partial reactions occurred later owing to a bearish Kansas State crop report, commission house selling for North-West account, better weather for crop-moving, and realising; but the market closed steady, 1⅛c. to ⅛c. higher. IRISH FAIRS.

ROSCREA.—On Thursday 70/- was first published, but quotations rapidly advanced and more money was given on the market for pigs. For the second week in succession five waggons of pigs were picked up. Bonhams, 60/-; potatoes, 2/8 per stone.

RATHDOWNEY.—Thursday, over 200 pigs were marketed, which averaged up to 80/-. Sellers of first-class grades have no difficulty in making their own prices, as best buyers are most anxious for quality, scale prices being now without influence in most centres.

LONGFORD.—The tone of the Dublin market, and the fact that two other fairs—Cavan and Mohill—clashed with Longford, rendered the attendance smaller than usual. There was a big show of store cattle, but a slow, cautious demand, consequently a late clearance. Beef (top price), 48/- per cwt.; second and inferior, 42/6 to 32/6. For springers there was a good price and ready sale at £25 to £32 10/- (top scale); other sorts, £17 to £24 10/-. Milch cows small display, running from £22 to £29 10/-, and selling readily at the price; three-year-old bullocks and heifers, £22 to £24 10/- (first quality); second, £17 10/- to £20 10/-; two-year-olds, £16 10/- to £18 10/- (first class); second quality, £14 to £16 5/-; year and quarter, £13 to £14 10/-; yearlings, £11 to £13 10/-; weanlings, £8 to £10 15/-. Sucking calves (a rare commodity at present) realised fully four to five guineas. Amongst sales effected were noticed: Mr. P. Cassidy (Rainey and Co., Portadown) purchased 10 shorthorns (finished), at £23 10/- each, from H. Toher, Newtownforbes; Mr. Fagan, Crosshea, bought from Mr. John Hegarty, Longford, 10 shorthorns, at £15 10/- each; Mr. Burns, Carrickboy, bought from Mr. George Hagerty, Longford, 10 shorthorns, at £14 7/6 each; Mr. Levinge, Mullingar, bought a lot of cattle from Mr. T. Dinnegan, of Clontum, at 15 guineas each; Mr. Cox, Longford, disposed of a number of heifers at £14 15/- each; Mr. P. McNamara, victualler, Longford, bought a lot of fat cattle from Mr. M. McCann, Newtownforbes, averaging £26 10/-; Mr. M. Burke, Longford, sold a lot of heifers at £14 each; Mr. T. Dinegan, Clooneena, sold 10 bullocks, at £16 10/- each, to Mr. McKeever, Co. Meath. Small fair of sheep of a poor description, which sold at prices ranging from £3 to £4 10/-. Of horses there was a small supply, with no deviation from the usual show—hacks and draught horses selling from £18 downwards. The pig fair was held on Wednesday. Meagre show, but good trade. Bacon pigs, 95/- to 100/-; stores dear, £4 10/- to £6 10/-. Bonhams experienced a fall of fully 15/- per pig.

SHERCOCK.—Cattle were bought up rapidly at keen prices in Shercock fair. Young pigs were also high-priced, and sheep for breeding purposes. The ruling quotations were:—Store cattle, one-year and over, £8 to £11 10/-; six-quarters, £12 to £14; two-year-olds, £16 to £18 10/-; springers, £27 10/- to £32 10/-; 2nd class, £21 to £25; old springers, £16; fresh calved cows, £25 to £28; 2nd class, £19 to £21; milchers, £12 to £16 10/-; strippers, £9 to £12; beef 50/- per cwt., live weight. Pigs—Suckers from 55/- to £3 5/- each; store pigs, £9 to £9 per pair; fat sows, £10 to £12 10/-; brood sows, £9 to £10 10/-. Sheep—Lambs, £3 10/- each. Horses—Old harness horses, £9 to £10; ponies, £10 to £12; six-quarters, £9 to £12. General Markets, Shercock (Wednesday).—Eggs, 3/6 per dozen; butter, 1/4 per lb.; young fowl, 2/6 to 3/3 each; potatoes, 4d. per stone; grass seed, 18/- per cwt.; oats, 1/- per stone.

ARMISTICE DAY IN DUBLIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Might I suggest a form of protest, simpler than Mr. Gilvary's, in which all can join? If everyone who shares the feeling of indignation which the attempt to disturb the Armistice Day ceremony has aroused would send a small donation for the Poppy Day Fund to the British Legion, 27 Molesworth street, Dublin, marking it, say, "Remembrance Day Protest," it would be a direct and effective answer to the disturbers.—Yours, etc.,

"B.A., N.U.I."

Dublin, November 13th, 1925.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As an Irishman recently come to England, I wish to protest against the unseemly disturbances which took place in St. Stephen's Green yesterday during the Two Minutes' silence.

Since coming to England a few weeks ago I have been repeatedly asked whether it is safe to travel in the Free State, and whether the unrest and hostility to England still obtained. A good many people apparently think that conditions in 1925 are only a little better than they were in 1922, and regard my suggestion to spend a holiday in Ireland with something akin to horror.

I have been to some pains to enlighten those to whom I have spoken about the matter, and am exceedingly sorry that any such disturbance should have taken place. What harm it may do the Free State cannot well be estimated, as it is certainly calculated to promote unsympathetic feelings on this side.

I have not yet had an opportunity of seeing a copy of the Irish Times, which is on the way to me, but I am sure that everything possible will be done to kill this spirit of mistaken patriotism, and that all thinking Irishmen will combine to promote friendly feelings in this country, whose trade is a valuable asset to the Free State.—Yours, etc.,

D. W. KENNAN.

Yeovil, Somerset, November 12th, 1925.

FOOD PRICES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—If any investigation is to be made of the cost of living in the Free State, it is to be hoped that the matter will be considered in all its bearings, in country as well as town. It is certain that no real remedy is possible unless all the various factors are reviewed, including cost of government, official salaries, cost of living bonuses, house rents, the incidence of rates on houses and land, distributing methods and costs in Dublin of food, etc.

I notice in some of your editorials it is stated that the people of Ireland require an investigation into the price of bread and milk in Dublin. But surely the people of Ireland want more than this. They want the whole economic situation reviewed, town and country conditions brought into proper balance, and agriculture put on a stable basis. It is not enough for townsmen to tell farmers that they must have better stock, better milk, butter and eggs, and better methods. There must first of all be the guarantee of an equitable distribution of profits between producer and retailer; and then it may be possible to cut down prices. At present the sheltered occupations of the towns have it all their own way.

Ireland with agriculture alone is in a very different category to England, where the many and important town industries hold pride of place. It would, therefore, be courting disaster to follow flagrantly the English economic and political system which has been handed down to us.—Yours, etc.,

SYSTEM OF EDUCATION.

VIEWS OF THE ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN.

The Archbishop of Dublin, speaking at the annual distribution of prizes at the Diocesan School for Girls, Adelaide road, Dublin, yesterday, said that he was glad that one thing which had been associated with their school system for many years had come to an end, and that was the old system of examination. There were many things about the old system of intermediate examinations that were very excellent. He did not mean to say by any means that the change was altogether for the better, but he thought, on the whole, that it was for the better.

He did not at all suggest that it was wrong that they should offer prizes and put boys and girls in competition, but the danger of the intermediate examinations was that a great deal more time and trouble were spent on getting boys and girls to know as near as possible the exact answers to the questions likely to be put to them than getting them to understand the principles and the basis of the work that they were supposed to be engaged in.

SCHOOL INSPECTION.

It was a great thing that they should have inspectors visiting the schools continually while the work was going on to see how instruction was imparted. That was a most important thing and a great protection for parents and those who governed schools.

Having impressed on the pupils the necessity of learning something about the value of speech, something about how to work and something about the difference between what is good and what is bad, the Most Rev. Dr. Gregg congratulated Miss Foster and the staff on the excellent condition of things in the school and wished it another year of prosperity and quiet usefulness.

Proposing a vote of thanks to the Archbishop, the Rev. A. E. Hughes confessed to a feeling of tiredness when he heard of yet another change in the educational programme. He had never seen any success in education but by work. That school was worked on the right lines; for no matter what changes took place excellent work continued to be done. He congratulated the staff and the girls of the school on their year's work.

Mr. W. C. Stubbs, manager of the school, in conveying the thanks of those present to the Archbishop, said that the tone of the school was excellent. Notwithstanding the difficulties created by the changes brought about in the programme, the staff heartily co-operated with Miss Foster in every possible way. (Hear, hear.)

The Headmistress (Miss Foster, B.A.) read the results of the various examinations passed by the pupils during the year, which revealed a fine record of successes.

During the afternoon the pupils contributed a number of vocal and instrumental items, which were very much enjoyed.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

MONEY-LENDING ACTION.

INTEREST REDUCED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

Judgment was given in the case in which Simon Mofsovitz, of 34 Exchequer street, Dublin, described as a financier, claimed from Myles Byrne and Annie Byrne, his wife, of 86 Main street, Bray, £58, balance alleged to be due to him by the defendants on a joint and several promissory note dated 20th December, 1924, whereby they promised to pay him £70 by weekly payments of £3 in respect of a loan of £50. The defendants, by their defence, pleaded that the loan was transacted at their residence, and not where the plaintiff carried on his business as registered money-lender, contrary to the provisions of the Money-Lenders Act; and, alternatively, that the interest charged on the loan was harsh and unconscionable, and that they were entitled to relief.

It appeared from the evidence, as reviewed by Mr. Justice Sullivan, that, according to the plaintiff, Myles Byrne called at his office and discussed the terms of the loan. He left, saying that he would talk the matter over with his wife. Mrs. Byrne subsequently telephoned from Bray stating that her husband was prepared to take the loan, provided that the plaintiff brought the money to the defendants' residence at Bray. On the 20th December he kept the appointment, bringing a cheque with him, and paid the defendants £50, and the defendants signed the promissory note in their house in Bray. The defendants and their daughter gave an entirely different account of the transaction, and both defendants were positive that neither of them ever visited the plaintiff's office. The terms were discussed in Bray and ultimately agreed upon, and the form for signature was bought by the defendants' daughter in the Post Office, Bray.

Mr. Justice Sullivan said that on their own evidence the defendants knew that the plaintiff was a money-lender, and telephoned to his registered office asking him to come to Bray. In these circumstances he was not prepared to hold that the fact that the plaintiff went to Bray, arranged terms, and took the money with him constituted the carrying on of business elsewhere than at his registered office.

The interest on the loan amounted to 86 per cent., and he held that this rate of interest was excessive. The onus was upon the plaintiff of showing some reason why such interest was charged, and, in the absence of any evidence by the plaintiff to justify a charge of interest at that rate, prima facie the transaction would be harsh and unconscionable; but, having regard to the defendants' circumstances and to the fact that no security was given, he thought that the plaintiff was entitled to charge substantial interest on the loan. He fixed the rate of interest at 25 per cent., which, for the period of the loan, worked out at £5 15s. 4d. The defendants' liability, therefore, was £50 and £5 15s. 4d., less the amount of £12 which they had paid. That left a balance of £43 15s. 4d., for which he gave judgment.

Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. W. Doran) was for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. Black (instructed by Mr. S. Eastwood) for the defendants.

AMERICAN DOLLARS CASE.

PLAINTIFFS' CASE OPENED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON, MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH AND MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

The hearing was resumed of the appeal brought by Mr. Stephen M. O'Mara, one of the defendants in the case of Fogarty and others v. O'Donoghue and others from a judgment of Mr. Justice Murnaghan in favour of the plaintiffs, the Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty (Bishop of Killaloe), Richard Mulcahy, Richard Hayes, Liam T. MacCosgair, John Collins (brother and personal representative of Michael Collins) and Ernest Blythe, the defendants being Daithi O'Donoghue, Eamon de Valera and Stephen M. O'Mara.

The action, relating to the ownership of $10,000 collected in U.S.A., had been brought for a declaration (1) that $10,000 given by the late Michael Collins to the defendant Daithi O'Donoghue, and lodged by him in the Munster and Leinster Bank, Lower O'Connell street, Dublin, constituted part of the funds of Dail Eireann; (2) an account of all other securities and moneys received by the defendants from the trustees of Dail Eireann or the Minister for Finance of Dail Eireann; and (3) an order for the payment or transfer of the same.

The Attorney-General, Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., and Mr. Bewley (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Jellett, K.C., Mr. Overend, K.C., and Mr. Marnan (instructed by Messrs. Little, OhUadhaigh and Proud) for the defendant and appellant, Mr. S. M. O'Mara.

Mr. Jellett, K.C., continuing his argument for the defendant, pointed out that the order of Mr. Justice Murnaghan, directing that the money loaned and subscribed in America for the political purposes mentioned should be handed over to the Minister for Finance of the Free State, was made on the assumption of the validity of the resolution of the 13th of September 1922, and the question which their lordships would have to decide was whether, in view of the documents to which he had referred, it was consistent with the contents of those documents that the Trust Fund should be handed over to the Finance Minister of the Irish Free State.

The documents to which he had referred showed that the money in the hands of the trustees represented the loans and subscriptions raised for the purposes of the Irish Republic in all Ireland, in pursuance of a resolution of the Republican Dail, that the signatories to the deed included the President, Vice-President, and Minsters of the Irish Republic, that the Dail mentioned in the deed which gave power to appoint new trustees was the Republican Dail, that Mr. O'Mara was appointed agent and representative of the trustees pursuant to the directions of the Government of the Irish Republic, that all the members of the Republican Dail took the oath to support and defend the Irish Republic, which was the Dail Eireann, and that the Dail Eireann meant the Irish Republic. There was nothing to show that the Free State Government was the successor of the Irish Republic; it was the successor of the British Government.

Replying to Mr. Justice FitzGibbon, he said that the Treaty had not been entered into with any Government; it was entered into with certain individuals, and there was not a word about the Treaty whatever in connection with this matter.

Mr. Justice FitzGibbon—From whom did the individuals derive their right?

Mr. Jellett—They derived their right from the minutes of the meeting I read yesterday.

Mr. Justice FitzGibbon—Yes, from the Dail Eireann.

Mr. Jellett said that Mr. O'Mara held the fund under certain obligations and rights, and the fund was impressed with a particular trust. He had submitted to their lordships that the Provisional Government had nothing whatever to say to the body that was mentioned in the trust deed. He said the money was not held in trust for the Government of the area of the Free State, but in trust for the area of the Government of the whole country.

The appellant, counsel said, was always willing to hand over the money in his possession to trustees appointed by the proper authority, and to apply the money to such purposes as they might direct. He had lodged all the money in Court, and all that he wanted was to have it decided to whom it should be paid over.

Mr. Overend, K.C., following on the same side, emphasised the points already made, stating that he could find no case in which there were two de facto Governments existing in the same country or territory at the same time, whatever might be said about de jure Governments.

PLAINTIFFS' CASE.

The Attorney-General, for the plaintiffs, said that Mr. Jellett had spent considerable time endeavouring to show that the three trustees had not been properly appointed, and that the Provisional Government and Provisional Parliament were both the creatures of a British Statute. He hoped to satisfy the Court that the case that Mr. Jellett tried to make was based on a fundamental misconception of the facts. Mr. Jellett also went to considerable trouble to get certain documents into evidence which had been rightly rejected by Mr. Justice Murnaghan, in order, as he said, to show what the body was that raised these funds, and that authorised the deed of trust; but the ground on which they were tendered in evidence, as reported by the learned judge, was for the purpose of showing what was the nature of the trust on which the trustees held the funds. On that ground, of course, Mr. Justice Murnaghan excluded the evidence, because the nature of the trust appeared sufficiently on the face of the deed of 1919 itself. Mr. Jellett had read extracts from a number of documents showing that the first and second Dail were Republican bodies, and that Mr. de Valera was President of the Irish Republic, and that he was described, and properly described, as President of the elected Government of the Republic of Ireland; but those matters were not very material. The events of the last few years were well known. They had entered into the history of the country, and he did not see why that Court should not take cognisance of them. The first Dail made a declaration of independence and proceeded to set up a Government, and he would admit that the form of Government they attempted to set up was a Republican Government; but that did not affect the issues which had to be determined in this case.

The Attorney-General had not concluded when the further hearing was adjourned till Monday.

BANKRUPT COMMITTED TO PRISON.

Mr. Justice Johnston, in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday, committed Andrew J. Tuohy, a commission agent, who occupied an office in Dame street, Dublin, to Mountjoy Prison for unsatisfactory answering.

Mr. Tuohy, a bankrupt, was examined as to his business affairs on the 31st July last, when it was elicited that he had received £500 from Mr. P. Logan in March, 1924, on condition, which was embodied in a written agreement, that Mr. Logan should be employed by him as traveller at a small salary and commission, and the £500 should be repaid at the end of twelve months. Mr. Logan shortly afterwards [illegible] £65 from the bankrupt. The bankrupt's story as to how he disposed of the £500 was not believed by the judge. The examination was adjourned then in order to give the bankrupt an opportunity of mending his evidence, but no further explanation was forthcoming. Hence the committal, which was applied for by counsel for the assignees.

"TERRIBLE ACT OF VANDALISM."

THE BURNING OF CASTLE BERNARD.

Judge Roche, sitting in Dublin Castle yesterday, delivered judgment in the application of Mrs. Katherine Harper and others, her relatives, for compensation for the malicious destruction by fire of Castle Bernard, near Kinnity, King's County, in July, 1923. The property consisted of a beautiful castellated mansion, with out-offices, and about 4,078 acres of land, of which 780 acres are tenanted. A guard of the National Army was in possession of the castle to protect it, but on the morning of July 23rd a party of armed Republicans came and made the soldiers surrender and leave the place. The raiders then set the mansion on fire in seven different places, and the contents were reduced to ashes.

The Judge described the burning as a terrible act of vandalism, of a piece with thousands of similar acts committed in the years 1922 and 1923, as a result of which a millstone of taxation hangs round the necks of the taxpayers of the country. The applicants did not intend to reconstruct the mansion in its old form, but they asked that compensation should be assessed on the basis of partial reinstatement. The figure given in evidence was £42,000, but that contained items which he could not allow. Having considered the evidence on both sides, he thought he was doing justice by allowing £21,000. He allowed £2,000 in respect of out-offices, and to Colonel Winter, the present owner of the grantee's interest, £1,600—a total of £24,600, with costs and expenses.

CLAIM SETTLED BY CONSENT.

Mr. George Sydney Gamble, of Killooly, Carrickmines, County Dublin, applied for compensation for the malicious burning of Derrinboy House, Kilcoleman, King's County, which was destroyed by Republicans on the 5th of May, 1923. The figure named in the claim was £4,182 for the house, and £1,000 for out-offices. As it was not intended to reinstate either of the buildings,

The Judge, by consent, made an order for £1,010 in respect of the dwellinghouse and £40 for the out-offices.

Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Callan (instructed by Messrs. Baker, Ringwood and Gordon) appeared for the applicant. Mr. Rogers, State solicitor, Tullamore, appeared for the State.

At the conclusion of the business Mr. Rogers expressed thanks to Judge Roche for the despatch with which he had disposed of the applications.

Mr. Price concurred.

NEW LONDON PLAY.

"BETTY IN MAYFAIR" AT THE ADELPHI THEATRE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Friday.

"Betty in Mayfair" is a musical comedy adapted rfom Mr. Hastings Turner's play, "The Lilies of the Field," in which the late Meggie Albanesi and Edna Best played the parts of the twin sisters. In the musical version produced at the Adelphi Theatre Miss Evelyn Laye and Miss Mary Leigh played the parts adorably.

Miss Laye played the twin who was given a London season by her grandmother, and who, in order to capture an eligible young bachelor, decided to adopt an old-fashioned style of dress, with manners to match. She quite unexpectedly became the vogue, and found herself a leader of fashion. Her sister remains a modern young thing, and the contrast in styles between the two girls was admirably shown.

Miss Evelyn Laye, in her crinoline and mid-Victorian demureness, and Miss Mary Leigh, with her bobbed hair, short frocks and modern slang, were both charming.

Most of the original dialogue is retained in the adaptation, and Mr. Fraser Simson's music is exactly right. It has charm and frequently reveals a deft lightness of touch. It was pleasant to attend a musical comedy that had not succumbed to the too prevalent jazz.

The dresses of the 1860 period were most picturesque, and the settings—particularly the last scene, which takes the form of a garden fête at Ranelagh—were really beautiful. "Betty in Mayfair" is different from most musical comedies—it has no low comedian. Personally, I welcome the omission.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN QUIET.

GUINNESS BUOYANT.

There was again a limited amount of business on 'Change, with irregular price movements. As on other days of the week, the feature in our local market was the continued extraordinary strength of the market in Guinness Ordinary Shares on unlimited buying orders from the London market, and the extreme buoyancy was most evident at the close of the day, when a big further advance was established.

There was also gathering strength again in Coats Ord. Shares in conjunction with most other Textiles, but Tobacco Shares eased a trifle all day. Sellers preponderated in Banking securities, and lower prices were the rule, with Royals exceptionally dull. The Guinness market was rampant, and closed a further 2½ higher, and with buying and bidding for forward delivery a month or two hence. The company's year ends on 30th June each year, or eight months hence. On the basis of last year's 32 per cent. tax free dividend the shares at 80 would yield 4 per cent. on money invested. Marconi Shares were still lower. Rail Pre. Ord. issues closed firm as regards Great Southern Stock. The Pref. were in keen request at an advance. Dublin United, and also Cork Electric Tram Pre-Ord. issues were strongly disposed. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were quiet, but Parent Trusts were firm. Drapery Shares were quietly firmer in price and tendency. Goulding Shares and Lever Brothers Pref. were wanted. Shell Transports closed quite good in tendency.

LONDON BETTER.

NEW COLONIAL LOANS.

The volume of business transacted in the London Stock Markets yesterday remained on a small scale, the near approach of the carry-over having a restricting influence. A generally steady tone was evident, however, while in some directions a tendency to lift prices was noticeable. French Loans improved on the revised financial plan, and Rubbers hardened with the commodity. The gilt-edged market was firm at the commencement, and quotations were pushed forward a shade, but later prices receded again, and at the close of business overnight levels were generally repeated.

Underwriting was arranged yesterday for a Western Australian Loan for £2,000,000 and a Tasmanian issue of £600,000. Stock in each case will bear interest of 5 per cent., the issue price being 98. The redemption date will be 1945-75, with a full six months' interest payable on August 1. Arrangements for a Brighton Corporation Loan of £700,000 in 4½ per cent. Stock, 1945-75, at 97 per cent., were also made.

The principal feature in the Foreign Government Stock market was the recovery in French issues. Reconstruction Loans were also firmer in places, while Chinese issues made some slight recovery. A slightly better tendency was evident in Home Rails, and several of the Ordinary issues were quoted at higher levels. With the exception of Mexican Rails, which were the turn higher, a generally easier tendency prevailed in Colonial and Foreign Rails.

GOVERNMENT AND BRITISH DYESTUFFS.

Details of the terms under which the British Government consents to withdraw from British Dyestuffs Corporation, Ltd., are announced in notices issued to shareholders last night convening meetings at Manchester on 25th inst. for consideration of the scheme of reconstruction. The Government consents to terminate its existing right to veto and control, to forego its right to nominate two directors, and to surrender its 850,001 Preference Shares and 850,000 Preference-Ordinary Shares, subject to payment of £600,000, on an undertaking that no more than 25 per cent. of the company's shares are held by foreigners, and that in all matters of technical information and research the company will keep in touch with the Government. The Board recommend the shareholders to accept the Government offer as part of the scheme of reconstruction, whereby the share capital will be reduced from £9,197,000 to £4,775,000. The Government's holding is £1,000,701.

JAY GOULD ESTATE TRUSTEES.

The former Justice, Mr. O'Gorman, reporting as Referee on the Gould estate, said Mr. Jay Gould's trustees and heirs had misused the authority granted them under the will. He holds Mr. Howard Edwin Gould, the late Mr. George Gould and Mrs. Finley Shephard responsible. He reports that more than $50,000,000 was loaned to the Missouri Pacific Railroad without security. The Referee directed the trustees to be surcharged with sums approximating to $50,000,000 and $12,000,000, which must be supplied from the estate of George Gould, apparently wiping out his personal estate. It would cause Lady Dunsford to lose $4,000,000.

SWEDISH MATCH SHARES.

Messrs. Guinness Mahon and Co., of 17 College Green, Dublin, inform us that the "B" Shares dealt in on the London Stock Exchange of the Swedish Match Company, having firmed up to 12⅜ bid, the difference now existing between these shares and the "A" Shares quoted in Stockholm is approximately 22s. per share, after allowing for all charges incurred in making the exchange.

DIALA COTTON.

A further news agency message referring to the Diala Cotton Company was received from Baghdad on Wednesday, stating that the company had definitely decided not to cultivate a winter crop this season. This was given in certain quarters as relating to a winter crop. On inquiring at the offices of the company it was stated that, while no official information had been received of the reported decision, it most certainly did not refer to a winter cotton crop. The message, if it had any foundation in fact, would obviously refer to a winter wheat crop. Cotton, it was pointed out, was not grown in the winter. The 1925 crop had all been gathered in, and the next crop would not be planted until the spring of 1926. If, further, it had been decided not to plant a wheat crop it would make little or no difference, as the company could purchase locally all the wheat it needed.

MARCONIS WIRELESS TELEGRAPH CO.

Sir Charles J. Stewart and Mr. H. Morgan have resigned from the board of Marconis Wireless Telegraph Co., Ltd., and the directors have appointed Sir Frederick J. Barthorpe, D.L., late chief joint general manager of the London County and Westminster Bank, Ltd. (an Alderman of the City of London), and Sir William Slingo, Engineer-in-Chief of the General Post Office from 1912 to 1919, to fill the two vacancies.

DYESTUFFS TERMS WITH GOVERNMENT.

The reconstruction scheme of the British Dyestuffs Corporation will be submitted to the shareholders at a meeting to be held in Manchester on November 25. The scheme has become possible now that terms have been made with the Government, which is to surrender its control and shares for a payment of £600,000. Under the reconstruction, writings off, payment to Government, and cash payment to Preference shareholders will require a provision of £4,421,532. The effect of the reconstruction may be summarised as follows:—The Preference shareholders—other than the Government—will receive 6s. in cash and 14s. in £1 Ordinary Shares for each Preference Share held. The Preferred-Ordinary shareholders—other than the Government—will receive two-thirds of their present holding in £1 Ordinary Shares. The Deferred-Ordinary shareholders will receive one-third of their present holding in £1 Ordinary Shares.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

The Gilt-edged market made a firmer start yesterday, and early quotations were better. Later on, however, prices receded, and at the close overnight levels were generally repeated. War Loans were better at one time, but the final figures were unchanged. Consols were also repeated, while Conversion Loans and Victory Bonds were also without material movement. Among Colonial Government Stocks, N.S.W. 4½ p.c. 1922-27, at 101, were a point higher.

The principal feature in the Foreign Government Stock market was the recovery in French descriptions. The 5 p.c. Loan rallied to 14½, or ½ to the good; while the 4 p.c. gained a like amount to 11. Chinese issues were also on the up-grade, and the 5 p.c. 1896 made good their loss of the previous day, being a point better at 90. Among Reconstruction Loans, Greek 7 p.c., at 90½ x.d., were ½ to the good; while Portuguese 3 p.c. at 30 were also ½ higher. Peruvian Corps were steady, and without further alteration.

RAILS FIRMER.

A distinctly firmer tendency characterised the Home Railway market, and quotations were higher in several directions. Great Westerns gained ½ to 87½, while Midland Ord. at 75 were also ½ to the good. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref. Ord. at 56¼, and the Def. Ord. at 20¼ were ½ and ¼ better, respectively. Metropolitan Districts made a further good improvement to 48, of a point higher.

Colonial and Foreign Rails, apart from Mexicans were easier. Among Argentines, B.A.G.S. and the Pacifics were both ½ lower, while Centrals lost a similar amount to 74. Cordoba Centrals 1st Pref. eased ½ to 79¼, and the 2nd Pref. dropped a point to 53. Entre Rios Ord. at 51½ and the 6 p.c. Cum. Pref. x.d were both ½ lower. United Havana fell to 105½ x.d., or a point lower. Mexican Rails, on the other hand, firmed up, the Ord. being ½ higher at 9, while the 8 p.c. Pref. at 27 made a gain of a full point.

RUBBER SHARES FIRMER.

A distinctly firmer tone was manifest in the Rubber Share market yesterday, although the actual volume of business transacted remained on a quiet scale. In the commodity market the raw material was in better demand and quotations were marked appreciably higher. Spot sold at 4s. 1d. per lb., against 3s. 11½d. on Thursday; while November fetched 4s. 0½d. and 4s. 1½d. per lb. Forward positions were also dearer. In the share market price changes were fairly numerous, and while, here and there, prices receded still further, the vast majority of alterations were in the upward direction. Labu finished 1s. 10½d. to the good at 45s. 7½d. x.d. Manchester North Borneo jumped 1s. 6d. to 44s. 9d. x.d. Serdang Central at 46s. 10½d. were 1s. 3d. higher, and Rubber Trust at 50s. 6d. recorded an improvement of 7½d. Bukit Kajang were another good spot, and here an increase of 1s. 10½d. was recorded to 77s. 1½d. F.M.S. Plants were an exceptionally firm market, the closing level of 72s. 6d. being 3s. 6d. higher than the overnight figure. Kapar Para slumped to 73s. 6d., or 2s. 9d. lower. United Sua Betong at 110s. 9d. were 1s. 1½d. down. Other falls were of small extent.

OIL SHARES GOOD

Although business in Oil Shares yesterday was not particularly active, the market maintained a firm tone throughout. Having regard to the advance which has occurred, and bearing in mind the approach of the carry-over, sales on the part of professional operators would not have been surprising. As a matter of fact, however, very little selling was encountered, and on any slight decline the leading issues were being bought. At the close price movements were mainly in favour of holders. The recognised leaders presented nothing of outstanding interest, but business was of a steady character and, assisted by New York advices, higher prices were general.

TEA SHARES LOWER.

A dull tone characterised dealings in the Tea Share market yesterday, while the volume of business put through remained on an extremely small scale. The majority of alterations was against holders. East India and Ceylon at 63s. 3d. and Eastern Produce at 88s. 3d. x.d. were both firm spots, and a gain of 1s. 3d. was registered in each instance. Jokai put on 9d. to 87s. 6d., while Budla Beta gained a similar amount to 132s. Tea Share Trust went ahead the turn to 31s. 3d., or 4½d. better. Upper Assam, on the other hand, dropped back rather sharply to 45s. 9d., or 3s. lower, while Borelli at 83s. 6d. were 1s. lower. Brahmapootra at 30¾ were ¼ down. United Planters of Ceylon at 70s. were also 7½d. down.

INDUSTRIALS QUIETLY FIRM.

With due regard to the large number of fresh appeals for capital to be made next week, it was satisfactory to note that the Industrial Market finished quietly firm. In the Electrical section, Bournemouth and Poole jumped 1s. 6d. to 65s. So tightly held was Guinness Ord. that another rise of 20 to 770 failed to tempt out much stock, the quotation establishing a new high level and contrasting with 492, the lowest this year. Hoares lost 1/16 to 2 5/16 and Ashbys ⅛ to 2; otherwise Brewery Stocks showed little movement. Distillers looked a better market at 2 13/16, and Glasgow Bonding gained a few pence to 25s. 3d. Motor descriptions closed firm, Dennis holding at 3 1/16 and Rovers gaining the turn to 10s. 9d. Provincial inquiry for Coats caused an advance of 9d. to 67s. 9d. The leading Textiles passed a quiet day. Trading dried up in Dyestuffs, the Ord. shedding 3d. to 6s. The Courtauld market was a poor one, further selling depressing the price 1/16 to 7 3/16, the main reason being the raising of credits by shrewd operators preparatory to taking a hand in the Snia Viscosa business. A somewhat better tendency prevailed in the News section under the lead of Associated Deferred, which rose ⅛ to 6⅜. The best spot in Tobaccos was B.A.T.'s, where "bear" covering was responsible for a recovery of 9d. to 111s., after 111s. 3d. Swedish Match "B" made a new peak price. Week-end influences acted as a deterrent to business in Banking, Insurance and Shipping. Iron and Steel issues were at low ebb. Upon the cessation of selling, which has been pronounced of late, the Marconi group took a turn for the better. The Parent Shares rose 1/16 to 1 7/16, Marines were strong and 1s. 3d. higher at 18s. 6d., and the friendless Canadians gained 3d. to 6s. 6d. Radios were done at 10⅛.

DUBLIN PRICE CHANGES.

BANK SHARES OFFERED. GUINNESS RAMPANT ON LONDON BUYING. COURTAULDS, TOBACCOS AND DUNLOPS DULL.

Government National Loan repeated 96 for an odd lot, but Compensation 5 p.c. fell ½ further to 94.

In British Funds, War Loan 5 p.c. rose 1/16 to 100 3/16, but Funding Loan fell 1/16 to 86⅛ and India 3 p.c. ½ to 57⅛, while India 3½ p.c. repeated 67⅞.

Banks were weaker. Munsters and Leinsters fell 1/16 to 7½, Nationals ½ to 20⅛, and Royals ½ to 12½, while Bank Stock repeated 270½.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness Ord. absorbed all attention. The opening price was 1 higher at 76, and then 76½ was paid and bid. At the later session the price moved up a further 1¼ to 77½ buyers, or 2½ higher on the day. J. Power and Son Pref. repeated 11s. 6d. and Distillers rose 3d. to 59s. 6d.

In Marconi Shares the Ord. fell 3d. to 25s.

In Home Railways, Great Southern Ord. opened 1/16 higher at 17⅛, and then fell to 17, but the Pref at the earlier market closed 1½ higher at 26.28 nominally, but later realised 26½, and the Debs. were steady at 53. Great Northern Guarantee Stock was held for 55, or 5½ points over last marking.

In Trams, Cork Electric Pref. were called 5 and the Debs. 62, both buyers, without business resulting. Dublin United Pref. rose ½ to 8¼.

Dunlop Rubber Ord. fell 3d. to 23s. 4½d., 23s. 3d., but Parent Trust Ord. rose 10d. to 20s. bid.

In Drapery Shares, Todd Burns Pref. rose 4½d. to 53s. and the Debs. repeated 56s. for a broken lot. Walpole Bros. Pref. at 70s. 6d. and Pim Bros. Debs. at 60 show no change.

SIR H. THORNTON AND TRUNK PACIFIC.

The following statement was issued yesterday by the Stockholders' Committee of the Grand Trunk Pacific Stockholders' Committee:—"Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, although in London on only a very brief visit, gave an interview to members of the Grand Trunk Pacific Debenture Committee to-day. Sir Henry, being away from his office, could not, of course, deal with the legal questions referred to in the Committee's circular just issued. He, however, repeated his invitation to a conference in Canada, which conference should be free to discuss not only the legal questions arising in the opinions given by the respective advisers, but the position generally of the 4 p.c. Debenture stockholders. The date of the conference was left open for settlement later."

LONDON MINING MARKET BUSY.

SOME BRIGHT SPOTS.

Preliminary arrangements for Monday's carry-over were in progress in the Mining market yesterday, but this did not altogether check fresh business, which remained quite brisk for specialties. As a matter of fact the open account is reported to be much smaller than on several previous occasions, and no difficulties are expected to arise. In the Kaffir section the leading finance descriptions held their ground, Central Mining, Rand Mines, Goldfields and Anglo-American all closing as on Thursday, while Union Corporation were only the merest fraction lower. "Johnnies" were a good market, but Randfontein lost the turn. Generals were freely bought and went ahead, and Springs Mines strengthened. There was some good buying of East Rands from the North, and as Paris also supported them the price advanced; while East Rand Mining Estates, on the proposed amalgamation with the African and European, were in good request and substantially higher. Platinum issues were dullish. Rhodesians were steady, though Chartered were marked down fractionally and Cam and Motor weakened, though on further consideration the report and accounts of the latter were more favourably regarded. Considerable interest was aroused by the starting of dealings in the Loangwa Concessions 5s. shares on the basis of 5s. 9d.-6s. A huge business was put through in them, and they closed strong at 6. A further rise of £1 15s. to £287 17s. 6d. per ton in the price of the metal exercised a strengthening influence on the Diamond share market. National Mining, on the proposed new issue, Mexican Corporation, and Burma Corporation were all easier. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

TREASURY BILL RATE LOWER.

LOANS EASIER.

Tenders were received at the Bank yesterday for £40,000,000 in Treasury Bills and Treasury Bonds. Again no bonds were sold. Tenders for bills dated Monday to Friday next at £99 0s. 3d. receive about 34 p.c., above in full. Tenders for bills dated Saturday at £99 0s. 6d. and above receive in full. These figures indicate an average rate of about 3⅞ p.c., which is slightly lower than that of last week.

There was the usual week-end ease in Lombard street yesterday, while funds were further augmented by purchases of short-dated Treasuries by the joint stock banks. Old day-to-day money was renewed at 3½ p.c., but new borrowers were offered accommodation at 3 to 3¼ p.c. Weekly fixtures went on at 3 p.c. Discounts were steady, the Treasury bill results being in accordance with expectations. Fine two and three months' bills were quoted at 3⅞ p.c., while the "hot" Treasuries were nominally 3 13/16 p.c. The banks bought December Treasuries at 3⅞ p.c. and Januarys at 3⅞ p.c.

The Silver market was uninteresting, the spot and forward quotations remaining at 32 1/16d. and 32d. per oz., respectively. Gold remained at 84s. 11½d. per fine oz. The Bank of England sold £54,000 of bar gold.

The best Paris quotation was not held, business having been recorded down to 118¼, but at 119.70 French francs finished at a slight improvement. The Belgian currency was a trifle cheaper. Zlotys were offered, the rate advancing to 30⅜. Lire further recovered well, finishing rather under 119¾, and Norwegian kroner were a little better again, though Denmark and Sweden moved slightly in our favour. For the third consecutive day the sterling dollar rate closed unaltered. Argentine and Chilean dollars were a little better, but Brazilian milreis further gave way, and Peruvian pounds were cheaper again. The Hong Kong and Shanghai rates recovered to 2s. 4½ and 3s. 1½d. respectively, and the yen improved to 1s. 8 13/32d.

Canadian Wiltshires scarce and also dearer at 112/- to 116/- per cwt. IMPERIAL SERVICE MEDAL.

The London Gazette announces that the King has been pleased to award the Imperial Service Medal to the following officers:—

Home Civil Service.—Crothers, James, postman, Belfast; Kelly, Robert John, postman, Portrush; McCarron, William, postman, Dromore sub-office, Omagh; McMillen, William Robert, postman, Belfast.

There was a remarkable degree of interest shown in the Wireless Exhibition yesterday at the Mansion House, Dublin, an interest which embraced a big and representative class of citizens. From the inquiries which were being made, and the increasing anxiety of people to ascertain the nature and technical details of the appliances on view, it would seem that the display has seized on the attention of an exceptionally large constituency of patrons.

Every effort has been made by the different manufacturers to put well in evidence the pleasure and advantages to be derived from this great invention. The crystal and valve combination sets were in great request by those who would be inclined to cut out the local station now and then, and tune up with stations further afield.

It should be mentioned that at moderate rates there are a variety of crystal and single valve sets, which will "pick up" the English stations, and some extremely fine equipments of eight valve types. These latter are peculiarly handy, for they eliminate the erection of an outdoor aerial. The visitors had an opportunity of being entertained to practical "demonstrations," programmes relayed on the Marconiphone system. The programme of the afternoon included the "Valkyrie," by the British National Opera Company, conducted by Albert Coates, and relays from foreign stations.

There seems to be no question that the opening of the Dublin Station will bring benefit and amusement to the people, and be a most important element in the utilisation and development of publicity.

The property consists of land of good quality and suitable for tillage, and adjoins the public road, and is within quarter of a mile from Hazelhatch (G.S. There is a substantial slated Dwellinghouse on the lands, containing diningroom, study, 5 bedrooms, kitchen, servants' rooms, dairy and pantries, also the usual out-buildings. The Residence is in good repair, and is approached by a splendid stretch of avenue about 300 yards long, at the entrance of which is a gate lodge. There is also a nice fruit and vegetable garden. The out-buildings are nearly all slated, and consist of shedding for about 40 cattle, stabling for 6 horses, store-house, workshop, harness-room, cart-sheds and coach-house, hay-shed and barn.

LOT 2.

The Lands of Ringwood, containing 91 acres 2 roods 9 perches, Statute measure, or thereabouts, situate at Hazelhatch, County Dublin, held under Lease from Dublin Corporation for 31 years from 1921, at the rent of £240, the payment in lieu of rent under the Land Act, 1923, being £180 per annum.

These Lands are of good quality, and at present are all in grass, save about 5 acres in oats. The lands are well watered and sheltered. There is a neat residence on the lands, containing 3 reception rooms, 4 bedrooms, bathroom (hot and cold water), 2 w.c.'s; kitchen, servant's room, etc., and out-buildings.

The Out-buildings consist of stabling for 4 horses, shedding for 20 cattle, etc., and are all slated and in good repair. The residence is only 5 minutes' walk from the Hazelhatch Railway Station.

The Lands comprised in Lots 1 and 2 are separated from each other by the Grand Canal.

Dated 11th day of August, 1925.
